ARROWS NO MATCH FOR CONGO TROOPS

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo Republic (Reuters) —Troops killed and wounded "a number of demonstrators" today in Coquilhatville, capital of Equator Province, when they were attacked with bows and arrows.

Order was finally restored after the troops opened fire, an announcement said. Coquilhatville was put under curfew.

'Worst Fire of Century' Destroys Vancouver Plant

Forest Firm Loss Over $2 Million

VANCOUVER (CP) — Firemen stood guard early today over the smouldering ruins of Vancouver's worst fire this century which caused an estimated $2,500,000 damage and levelled five blocks in the city's industrial False Creek district.

Twelve firemen and three civilians suffered minor injuries during the blaze and were treated at hospital, then released.

At the height of the five-alarm inferno every available man of the fire department's 450-man force and all available equipment were at the scene.

Fire Chief Hugh Bird, who estimated the damage, ordered a Martin Mars water-dropping aircraft of Flying Forest Tanker Incorporated at Sprout Lake to stand by. However, the plane recently purchased to fight forest fires in the province, was not needed.

Two city fireboats and another from the RCAF battled their way through scores of pleasure craft in the vicinity to aid land equipment.

More than 10,000 persons swarmed to the scene to watch the desperate battle. The intense heat kept even the most hardy two and sometimes three blocks from the scene.

Twenty-four of the city's 60 policemen on duty were called to the area to unsnarl huge traffic jams and reroute traffic.

The fire, first five-alarm fire in Vancouver's history, started from a short circuit in a motor at the B.C. Forest Products' planer mill.

SPRINKLER LITTLE HELP — The mill's sprinkling system did little to deter flames as the fire began beneath the floor.

Before firemen arrived at 5 p.m. winds gusting to 35 miles an hour sent the flames roaring through the mill, a nearby sawmill and a lumber yard.

When weary firemen, working 30-minute shifts on the hoses, finally contained the fire and broke it into several pocket blazes, five city blocks stretching upwards from the waterfront were levelled.

Also destroyed were B.C. Forest's office building, a large dry kiln, a boiler room, 1,000,000 feet of lumber, the nearby Alberta Lumber Mills Limited and a large section at the rear of Bingham Equipment Company Limited.

WATER TURNED TO STEAM — Chief Bird twice asked the water board to boost water pressure. He said later the water appeared to have little effect as it turned "to steam before it hit the flames."

Firemen concentrated on watering down the perimeter area in efforts to stop its spread.

"It's the worst fire I've seen since I've been on the force," the fire compares with the Pies D fire of July 27, 1938, that destroyed the CPR's huge deep-sea terminal here, and the Ss. Greenhill Park explosion and fire March 6, 1945. Both caused $1,000,000 damage.

The city's worst fire was before the turn of the century when on June 13, 1886 fire destroyed 700 homes, killed 10 and left another 2,500 homeless.

In Sunday's blaze residential homes were not in immediate danger.

WORKMEN TRAPPED

'I Couldn't See 3 Inches Ahead'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Three hundred persons were out of work today, the result of a five-alarm fire that swept through a four-square block area Sunday.

Ernie McLeod, 54, a B.C. Forest Products' first-aid man acting as watchman, told of being trapped by smoke after giving the general alarm.

"Bob Heslop ran over to me yelling fire," he said. "I ran into the engine room to turn in the alarm."

'Where Is the Closest Exit?'

"By this time the thick smoke had me trapped in there. I couldn't see three inches in front of me."

"The first thing a mill worker thinks is 'where is the closest exit from where you are?'"

"I dropped to my hands and knees and began crawling out of the room," McLeod said.

"I felt my way along the engines, barely conscious."

Robert Heslop said he was working on a planer when "There was a puff of blue smoke right in front of me. I blew the fire whistle and ran to warn the others in the plant."

Records Saved From Company Office

Heslop said there were about 15 men, all millwrights, working in the mill until 4:30 p.m.

Bystanders and company men who raced to the scene salvaged records from the BCFP offices which later burned down.

Company officials held an emergency meeting late Sunday.

President Charles D. Dickey later confirmed an estimate that loss to BCFP alone would exceed $2,000,000.

He gave no indication as to future plans, or whether the plant was insured.

Mr. Dickey said he did not know how many of the 300 employees would be able to keep working "but it will not be a large number immediately."

Earthquake Rocks N. Pacific Area

A moderate earthquake centred near the Queen Charlotte Islands followed by four aftershocks, was reported today by Hugh White, seismologist at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Saanich.

The quake took place at 9:30 p.m. Sunday and the aftershocks at 1:52, 4:14, 5:53 and 6:41 this morning.

No damage has been reported.

Mr. White said the quake had a magnitude of six and one-half on the Richter Scale. "A quake of this magnitude could cause damage in its immediate vicinity," he said.

He said the after-shocks were of a minor nature.

The same quake was recorded at the University of California seismograph Sunday.

Another earthquake in the outer Aleutian Islands was recorded at 12:27 p.m. Sunday at the observatory's seismograph station.

It had a magnitude of 6 and was centred about 2,400 miles northwest of Victoria.

At Queen Charlotte City in the islands, dishes rattled and several persons were awakened by a one-minute tremor this morning, but there was no damage.

Dogs, Rabbit Aboard Rocket

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia successfully launched a one-stage ballistic rocket carrying two dogs and one rabbit last month, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today.

The launching was for research into the upper layers of the atmosphere and cosmic space, the agency added.

The rocket reached a height of 208 kilometres (about 130 miles), Tass said. The animals were returned to earth and were in good condition.

Hope Fades for Crew Of U.S. Survey Plane

BODO, Norway (AP) — Hope faded today for six crew members of the U.S. Air Force reconnaissance plane missing over the Arctic Sea as the search entered its third day.

The airmen would have spent more than 60 hours in the sea if the plane went down near the last known position—about 300 miles north of the Kola Peninsula in the Soviet Union.

Norwegian experts said that a man could live only 20 to 30 minutes in the sea in these waters, and even if the airmen managed to get into one of the dinghies their plane carried, the period now passed would be too long for survival.

Fulton Denies Columbia Rift

B.C. and Ottawa representatives this morning launched a key meeting here in their series of Columbia River power talks amid repeated denials of any "rift."

"If there were any rift we wouldn't be meeting at all," said Justice Minister Davie Fulton head the Ottawa team, which started talks at the Legislative Buildings.

326 Killed On U.S. Roads

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic deaths climbed swiftly today toward a possible record toll for a three-day July 4 American Independence Day holiday weekend as motorists jammed the highways on their home-ward journeys.

At noon EDT the toll reached 326 dead in traffic accidents, 29 in boating mishaps, 70 by drowning and 69 due to miscellaneous causes for a total of 494 deaths in the United States.

The record was set in 1955 with 497 persons perishing in traffic accidents during a similar 78-hour period.

FREDERICTON (CP) — New Brunswick's Liberal government will take office Tuesday, July 12, at 8 p.m., it was announced today following a conference between Premier Hugh John Flemming and Premier-elect Louis J. Robichaud.

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Premier B. P. Koirala said today he is satisfied with the Communist apology for killing a member of Nepal's border patrol and capturing 16 others last week.

Rail Report 'Soon'

OTTAWA (CP) — A royal commission report on alternative routes for a railway to Great Slave Lake, in the Northwest Territories, will be issued "in a day or so," Prime Minister Diefenbaker said in the Commons today.

CBC Program Probe

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario attorney-general's department plans to question CBC employees who had anything to do with the production of a television program featuring a professional divorce correspondent, it was reported today.

Canada Won't Get U.S. A-Warheads

OTTAWA (CP) — It now appears unlikely that the Canadian government will acquire American nuclear warheads for use by Canadian forces in Canada, reliable sources said today.

The government is said to be unwilling to accept American control over such warheads as now required by United States law.

The only way around the present impasse would be for the U.S. to amend its regulations to permit Canadian control over the nuclear weapons. There is no indication of this.

The Canadian and U.S. defence departments have been discussing this point for some 18 months without being able to come to any agreement.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today in the Commons in reply to Opposition Leader Pearson that the government has not yet decided whether to equip Canadian forces with nuclear arms.

And he repeated that any nuclear weapons for Canadian forces in Canada would have to be under Canadian control and could be used only as the result of a decision by the Canadian government.

This statement would not necessarily apply to Canadian forces, such as the army brigade group, serving in NATO forces in Europe.

Mr. Diefenbaker also said that Canada and the United States are endeavoring to arrive at a formula for joint control of nuclear warheads which would be stored at Goose Bay, Labrador, and Harmon Field, Nfld., for use of American interceptors based there.

The Prime Minister, replying to a question put last Friday by Opposition Leader Pearson, said discussions are continuing with the United States on acquisition of nuclear warheads.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

The days come and go, O Lord, but Thou art the unchanging One. Thou art like a rock, solid and unmoved, amid the uncertainty and variability of the passing days. Give us a greater sense of Thy security and dependability so that we may be more ready to hide ourselves in Thee in times of conflict and storm. Not that we would seek to avoid the conflicts we meet, but rather that we would encounter them under the protection found in fellowship with Thee. Give us that sense of safety in the midst of conflict which shall make us sure of victory even in the sternest struggles; through Jesus Christ. Amen.

I s'pose it's progress of a sort when y' kin hev yer forest fires right in town.

WAS IT DOMINION DAY OR DIEFENBAKER DAY?

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker was the logical person to take the salute at the army's Dominion Day ceremony on Parliament Hill Friday because Governor-General Vanier was not in Ottawa, acting state secretary Balcer told the Commons today.

He was asked by Alexis Caron (L-Hull) what rules of protocol permitted the prime minister to take the salute.

"Is the government trying to make Dominion Day, Diefenbaker Day?" he asked. Mr. Diefenbaker laughed at the question.

Mr. Balcer said he was not an expert in protocol, but since Governor-General Vanier was away from Ottawa, "I think it was very proper for the prime minister to take the salute."

KAMSACK, Sask. (CP)—Sir Robert Ernest Williams, 36-year-old railway brakeman, is thinking about a trip to England but he is not sure whether he can afford it.

He inherited an English baronetcy Saturday with the death in England of Sir William Law Williams, a second cousin.

Mr. Williams, a Canadian National Railways employee for 16 years, has never been to England and has no idea of the extent of the land holdings, property and family seat that is his inheritance.

"At one time the inheritance might have been considerable," he said Sunday, "but I don't know anything about it now."

A report from Braunton, England, said the estate included hundreds of acres of Devon Hills, a dozen farms, cottages, three manor houses and half the village of Wraton.

"This takes the wind out of my sails," said the brakeman. Mr. Williams knew three years ago that he was heir apparent. He heard from Sir William about a year ago.

Today he is to go on a regular 118-mile freight run to Hudson Bay.

The Williams have three boys and a girl, ranging in age from three to 12 years. They rent a nine-room house and do not have a car.

QUIMPERLE, France—Newlyweds Pierre and Marie Robardet sped away from the ceremony and spent their first night fighting a forest fire. Their car skidded off the road and burned, setting fire to trees. Eventually they had the help of a fire brigade in getting the blaze under control.

LONDON—J. Paul Getty's silver-gilt sugar sifter worth $11,200 was found in a telephone booth today. It disappeared from the oil millionaire's Surrey mansion during his housewarming party Thursday night. There were 1,200 guests at the party.

PHILADELPHIA—A city like Philadelphia needs big policemen to handle big crimes and compact cars to get through heavy traffic. But...

When the city recently put on 100 compact patrol cars complaints poured into headquarters from tall policemen. They said they were bumping their hats in the small cars.

Sunday Police Commissioner Thomas J. Gibbons issued this directive: Policemen may ride in the compact cars without their hats, but they must put them back on when they get out.

FORTROSE, Scotland—The Fortrose town council hailed a new porridge-eating champion Sunday and challenged the outside world to match his mouthfuls.

A silver cup award went to Roderick Munro, 42, who led 21 other hardy Scots by gulping down 22 ladles of the thick breakfast food in 30 minutes. The heaping servings would have filled eight large plates.

DRY, LEGAL, UNEXCITING

Pearson Blasts Bill of Rights

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal and CCF leaders today criticized Prime Minister Diefenbaker's proposed bill of rights as inadequate, feeble and uninspiring.

But both Opposition Leader Pearson and CCF house leader Hazen Argue indicated they would support the bill at its second-reading approval in principle.

Mr. Pearson, describing the bill as "dry, legal, unexciting," said the Liberals would propose changes when the bill went to a Commons committee for study—amendments aimed at making the bill more adequate and "to accomplish the purposes we all have in mind."

Following Mr. Pearson in the debate, Mr. Argue said an amendment to the British North American Act would provide greater security for human rights and fundamental freedoms than a statutory law proposed by the government.

He called the bill "hesitant, inadequate and merely a feeble attempt" to do what only a constitutional amendment can accomplish.

Mr. Pearson criticized the government for what he called its "complete failure" to consult the provinces on making a joint declaration of human rights and freedoms.

He contended that the bill as presented was limited in scope and in effect only a declaration of human rights. It bore no relation to Mr. Diefenbaker's "impressive and eloquent proposals" of a few years ago on what a bill of rights should contain.

Mr. Pearson said Mr. Diefenbaker's claims for the bill are "extravagant and excessive."

NO PENALTIES

The bill provided no penalties for any breach of its declarations. A person would have no more recourse to the law to protect his rights after passage of the bill than now.

The bill said nothing about economic rights. What about freedom from want and the demoralization of unemployment, Mr. Pearson asked.

Mr. Pearson said the prime minister had claimed the bill would serve as a warning to future Parliaments. If the Canadian Parliament required such a warning "we are in a bad way."

PILOT SEVERS TANGLE TO SAVE PARACHUTIST

HOPEWELL, Va. (AP)—A Richmond commercial artist making his first parachute jump dangled helplessly 2,000 feet above the ground for nearly two hours Saturday when his chute snagged on an airplane.

Clovis C. Coffman finally was freed when the pilot, Mrs. K. R. Bradley of Richmond, smashed an instrument dial with her shoe and used the broken glass to cut the cords. Coffman pulled his emergency parachute and floated down, spraining both ankles when he hit the ground.

Coffman was attempting to jump over Hopewell airport when the line connecting his parachute to the plane became tangled around his body. He said he remained conscious during the hour and 45 minutes he was suspended.

MILITIA LEARNS HOW

Hard Core Ready If Attack Comes

Any threat of nuclear attack on B.C. will find a hard core of well-trained, disciplined troops, who have some idea of how to cope with the emergency.

These troops would be able to enter any damage area, rescue casualties, give medical treatment, control refugee evacuation and traffic and prevent looting.

500 ISLANDERS

This has been the theme of a week's training for 1,500 men of the militia at Vernon, including 500 from Vancouver Island, which ended Saturday.

"I think the troops have a better idea about survival training," Col. L. W. Johnson, commander 25 Militia Group Vancouver Island, said today.

"It offers a challenge and can be used for any national emergency as well as nuclear attack."

The journey to Vernon last weekend was designed to test administrative movement; Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday were spent in unit training; and on Thursday and Friday troops moved into the lower mainland area for survival training after theoretical nuclear attack.

"This was the first time the troops had the chance to practice survival," said Lieut.-Col. S. E. Park, G.S.O.1, 25 Group. "It was a test for us to exist and work efficiently under our own resources. We ran our own camp."

Also for the first time, the "packet" system was used in transportation. Vehicles moved in groups of from three to six at five minute intervals.

This had a double purpose for not only did it help the movement of civilian traffic, it also tested the initiative of each packet, which was completely independent and only connected to the others by a radio link.

Wives were again on the militia payroll this year, with

Democrat Leaders Deny 'Rigging'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Has the Democratic national convention that opens a week from today in Los Angeles been rigged in favor of Senator John Kennedy of Massachusetts?

Former president Truman says it has. National chairman Paul B. Butler says it hasn't.

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, a main rival of Kennedy for the presidential nomination, agrees with Truman. Governor Leroy Collins, of Florida, the convention's permanent chairman, says the rigging charge is not true.

Kennedy arranged to fly to New York today from his summer home at Hyannisport, Mass., for a press conference to answer the charges Truman made Saturday. He is sure to deny strongly that the convention has been "pre-arranged" in his favor.

Johnson, in a radio-TV interview Sunday, said "I don't think it's any secret that the national chairman of all the members has been somewhat active in Senator Kennedy's camp. He no longer is really a judge, or impartial chairman. He is an advocate of Senator Kennedy."

Johnson said he has not been consulted about any of the convention arrangements, and added that it seems "a little unfair for Mr. Butler as national chairman to say that he doesn't think a man who has a residence in a certain section of the country can be selected and he thinks a man who has a residence in New England ought to be selected."

Butler declined comment on Johnson's remarks, but he has denied any convention rigging and says all candidates will get a fair shake. Butler has conceded that last March he made what he calls a qualified prediction that Kennedy would win the nomination.

Collins, in another television interview, insisted Sunday the convention "could not be rigged unless the permanent chairman was a party to the rigging and there just has been nothing like that."

Sunday, a reporter, referring to the charges that the Democratic convention has been rigged, asked Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York, if he thought the Republican convention bore any similarities.

"Well yes," said Rockefeller. "I don't think they have wanted competition and I don't think they want discussion of issues. And I think that's a mistake."

AMORY ... stepping down

Cabinet Shuffle Seen In Britain

LONDON (Reuters)—Treasury chief Derick Heathcoat Amory is expected to give up his post later this month, causing a shuffle of Prime Minister Macmillan's cabinet.

Amory is believed to be anxious to leave politics for his family's textile business. He is likely to be offered a peerage.

Several ministers have been suggested as candidates for the treasury post, including Sir David Eccles, education minister, and Selwyn Lloyd, the foreign secretary. Eccles was regarded as the strongest possibility.

LENIN REVISED

War 'Unthinkable' Says Khrushchev

VIENNA (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev declared Saturday night another major war is unthinkable because it would destroy a world made small and vulnerable by nuclear weapons and rockets.

In a speech before Austro-Soviet Society, Khrushchev disavowed the Leninist theory that the triumph of communism could only be achieved through conflict with capitalism.

"We don't want to push solving the question of capitalism versus communism, through a war because all would be lost," he said.

FOOD PRICES UP

Cost of Living Climbs Slightly

OTTAWA (CP)—Higher consumer prices, especially for fruits, vegetables and meats, pushed Canadian living costs up slightly during May, the bureau of statistics reported today.

The consumer price index climbed by one-fifth of a point to 127.6 on June 1 from 127.4 on May 1. It was only the second monthly rise in the last seven months, a period in which the index has generally declined from its peak of 128.3 last Nov. 1.

The index—a yardstick based on 1949 prices equalling 100—was 1.2 per cent higher than its level of 125.9 on June 1 last year.

Food prices rose by half of one per cent during May, with the food index climbing to 120.8 from 120.2, as prices were marked up on most fresh fruits and vegetables and most meats. Apples, cabbage, tomatoes and potatoes were the fresh produce most affected. Price declines were generally limited to eggs and butter.

Aid For Mine Town

ELLIOT LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Plans for a $2,000,000 prison farm and a provincial park development to bolster the economy of this slump-threatened mining centre were announced Saturday by Ontario Mines Minister Maloney.

However, there were also fractional gains in most other sectors of consumer budget—shelter and clothing costs and miscellaneous other commodities and services. But the index for household operation costs declined slightly.

The May increase in living costs was preceded by a small rise in industrial wages during April. The index of average industrial wages and salaries at May 1—latest figure available—was 176.9, compared 175.4 on April 1 and 170.5 a year ago. The index is based on 1949 average wages equalling 100.

The rise in shelter costs resulted from increases in both rents and home-ownership costs. The shelter index climbed to a record high of 143.8 on June 1 from 143.5 a month earlier.

A slight increase in the clothing index during May, to 110.9 from 110.8, reflected some price increases from spring sales prices and higher prices for some other items, including men's work pants and oxfords.

DAVID WAYNE HERO

Movie Actor Rescued In Real-Life Drama

VALLON-PONT D'ARC, France (AP)—Movie star David Wayne saved actor Stephen Boyd from drowning in a real-life drama during shooting of The Big Gamble today.

The scene was darkest Africa—a swift-flowing river dammed by technicians to make it flow swifter. A truck became stuck halfway over.

Boyd, following the script, leaped into the waters to work the truck free. Not following the script, he slipped on some rocks and struck his head against them.

As he slid under the water unconscious Wayne plunged to his rescue. He kept Boyd's head above water until help arrived.

Boyd was reported in good condition.

Raid on the Treasury

PREMIER FROST OF ONTARIO has opened an overt attack on the federal-provincial taxation agreements that have served the nation well in war and peace. He demands from the national Government, for Ontario's use, "much more" than the additional yearly sum of $100 millions specified in his original campaign two years ago when he was helping to elect his ally, Mr. Diefenbaker.

Ontario's price has been raised to a point where no federal Government can pay it without revising the nation's whole fiscal and taxation policy. For if Ontario is to get anything like Mr. Frost's figure, the other provinces must be given similar concessions and the total cost will be gigantic, probably impossible.

But Mr. Frost will not merely ask for more money from the national treasury at the July federal-provincial conference; he proposes to amend or repeal the entire formula devised to even out the regional disparities of Canadian wealth. He threatens to withdraw from the existing agreements and collect his own income and corporation taxes. He asserts the doctrine that the tax money collected in Ontario belongs to Ontario, and Ontario should spend it.

There are two things wrong with this theory. First, money collected by the federal Government in any province belongs to the federal Government and can be spent as Parliament decides, regardless of any province's wishes. Second, a large part of the tax money collected by the federal and the provincial Government in Ontario was not earned there.

It only accumulates there at the head offices of companies doing business all over the country. Other provinces provide that money in the first place but it is collected in Ontario where national policies of many kinds, chiefly the tariff, have concentrated so much of the nation's wealth.

The whole purpose of the reforms begun with the Rowell-Sirois

Report during the last war was to level out, in a fairly modest fashion, the public services maintained by all provinces, to put a firm floor under the poorer members of Confederation. And this was done on the sound assumption that Confederation could not long prosper, or even endure, if some of its regions could not afford the bare necessities of modern government.

By and large, with many changes of detail from time to time, the system of transferring a fraction of wealth from the rich to the poor provinces has worked satisfactorily—how satisfactorily we shall realize only if the system is destroyed and every province must try to survive on its own local revenues. For many of them—all of the Maritimes and two of the prairie provinces—could not survive. Nothing could so gravely strain the unity of the nation as a return to the pre-war system of taxation.

Fortunately the federal Government has no intention of ending its present equalization payments. Mr. Fleming has made that clear already. However, if equalization is to be maintained and Mr. Frost's appetite for more revenue is to be satisfied (not to speak of Mr. Bennett's) then Mr. Fleming must find hundreds of millions of extra dollars from somebody, or alternatively reduce his own expenditures, which is inconceivable.

Thus if Mr. Frost and Mr. Bennett are to get anything like the money they will demand at next month's conference all the taxpayers of Canada must provide it, among them the people of Ontario and British Columbia who happen to be the richest in Canada.

For Mr. Diefenbaker's Government all this represents not only a financial but a political problem of first magnitude, especially as the Government's most indispensable ally in practical politics is Mr. Frost. But we hope the federal Government will stand firm against a raid on the national treasury and on the ordinary taxpayer's purse.

The Continuing Hope

THE UNITED NATIONS Assembly to which the problem of disarmament will be taken following Russia's walkout from the Geneva 10-nation conference, is now fifteen years old.

It has not fulfilled all the high hopes with which it was launched at San Francisco as the Second World War came to an end. On the other hand its successes in certain fields have been sufficiently impressive to ensure its existence for some time to come. Despite some political failures, no major nation dares to propose abandonment of the UN. It is kept because there is nothing better; it will be displaced only by something better.

The plain fact is that the twentieth-century world—with jet travel and rocket weapons—is too small and crowded for the nations to live in without some central authority, restricted though its power may be.

It is unfortunate that although world attention centres on the political activities of the United Nations, its greatest successes have been in less publicized fields: in international medicine and hygiene, in care for children and refugees, in aid to needy countries, in education, agriculture and such work.

In the diplomatic arena, the UN can condemn but it cannot force. It can bring world opinion to bear on, say, an aggressive act—as in the case of Russia's smashing of the Hungarians—but it has no standing armed force to make its word law. This, in many eyes, is its chief defect, but the difficulties attending an international armed force are many and so far it has not been possible to surmount them.

The UN has prevented wars, as in Kashmir and the Gaza Strip; it has fought a war, in Korea. It has sometimes been accused of talking instead of taking action, but as one national representative has said: "It is better for old men to get ulcers than for young men to die." If there were no UN we would have to devise one.

The UN has grown to 82 members since its inauguration with 60. Another dozen will be added soon, when newly established African states join the world organization. With the changing membership there has been a shift in the power balance and a new look at the role of the UN, but its importance remains. Red China has not yet been able to get in, but no major power could afford to leave the UN.

It is to this body that the vital question of disarmament now returns. It is not to be expected that a forum of 82 will be able to reach decisions which a committee of 10 nuclear powers could not achieve. But it may be possible to clarify the matter further, and in particular determine whether or not the world really wants disarmament. Despite universal protestations, there could still be considerable doubt on that score.

The Timid Man

MR. JUSTICE FELIX FRANKFURTER was in his bath and leaped, naked, to the telephone when President Roosevelt asked him to become a member of the United States Supreme Court. Since then he has established himself as one of the nation's great lawyers but his mind, illuminated by a kind of Puckish genius, has ranged far beyond the law. Lately, in a series of informal, taped interviews, he has been giving the American people his verdict on life.

"What is it," he asks, "that makes so many men timid creatures?" And he answers: "People want to avoid unpleasantness—to be asked to, dinners at certain houses. They want to run for office." Perhaps, The New York Times adds, they are timid because, as Billy Graham said the other day, they would rather be liked than right. Anyway, a man who discards timidity must take on responsibility and responsibility, says The Times, is something that hardly anyone seems to want these days.

"Timidity," The Times, adds, "may offer the promise of untroubled security—or a feeling of false security—false because security (if one means freedom from danger, risk, care, apprehension or doubt) does not exist, and a reading of history suggests it never did."

If indeed it once existed it perished for most men long before Mr. Justice Frankfurter began to denounce timidity. Today we are busily building what we call social security when world society, under a nuclear cloud, has about as much security as a boy playing with dynamite caps.

A GLANCE AT THE RECORD

By B. A. TOBIN

Devil's Island, or Devil's Planet?

FOR several generations of book-reading youngsters, the name "Devil's Island" was a source of wonder, horror, excitement and adventure. Countless stories of desperate escape from the French prison colony were published for youthful as well as adult appetites. Fiction could never exceed fact when it came to Devil's Island horror. But what was a vicarious shudder for readers was all too real a hell for the wretches sentenced to the Caribbean prison. For them the years were long but life was short. Few ever returned, even from brief sentences, and it was not until the famous Dreyfus case that the world caught an authentic inside glimpse of this first of the modern "concentration camps."

It is seven years since France closed the then modified penal colony, as a result of public opinion. As an official form of punishment Devil's Island had become as outdated as racks and thumb-screws. Now the property is to be sold, if possible. It will take a buyer with a strong stomach to want the place.

Prisoners' Ghosts
Too many ghosts of starving, maddened creatures, mere hollow shells of human beings, must haunt the scene. Here was depravity and hopelessness which the world had probably never seen on such a scale before, unless it was in the days of the Pharaohs' slave labor.

No Room
What's the matter with your Victoria parking system? We have been visiting this beautiful island and became interested in buying property here. For at least three days, we have tried to get a parking space on your Broad Street block or in Yates Street to make enquiries at the large real estate office on the corner, but gave up in disgust after trying several times between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. Imagine our surprise when we mentioned this to someone at the hotel (when we said the cars were the same each day), to be told, "Ho, those belong to the staff at that office."

Is this the way Victoria treats its visitors and prospective residents? If so, you can keep it. Perhaps some day these smart guys will get wise and keep the curbs clear for prospective customers who have money to spend and invest in Victoria.

Visitors do not know the location of private parking lots, but tradesmen can sure park there and leave the curbs clear for customer parking.

'A Really Big Show'
I note with some interest that the required $500,000 "performance" bond of the Wenner-Gren group has finally been located by our Minister of Finance; I also note that it has been returned since it is claimed that they have exceeded the requirements imposed upon them by the provincial government in the matter of surveys. We have, for example, Mr. Bennett's statement that some $9,000,000 have been spent by this group of financiers in the northern reaches of our province.

While not doubting the veracity of Mr. Bennett's word, does it not seem reasonable that the people of British Columbia should be given proof positive that this money has been spent, and that there has been sufficient evidence of good faith on the part of Wenner-Gren to justify return of this bond?

It would indeed seem possible that if there is some doubt as to the whereabouts of this bond, that some doubt should exist as to whether its return is justified. After all, a sum of half-a-million dollars is involved, which under certain circumstances, could form a part of the Crown revenues, and the government are still servants of the public in this regard.

In the matter of the start of construction of the PNR, once again we have the government paying lip-service to its public obligations. In order to justify a date set some five years ago, our government bypasses the Public Utilities Commission and after, I am sure, a splendid opening ceremony, attended by the Premier, two members of his cabinet and others, 10 men and three pieces of machinery start.

One cannot lamentably have in mind, the oft-spoken words of a popular U.S. television entertainer "A Really Big Show."

What else can this be, but a mere token and that once again the people of this province have been by-passed in the interests of an organization who

It was not, in fact, until two new political concepts—Communism and Nazism—appeared that similar cases of bestiality, both on the voluntary part of the authorities and the involuntary part of the victims, again disgraced the human race.

Stories filtered back of conditions in the Siberian prison camps, where thousands of men and women, many of them not even knowing why they were there or what their crimes were, went into animal-like servitude. Death was the most likely release and ultimately, perhaps, the most hoped-for.

It took another decade or two and German ingenuity to devise a penal system that made Devil's Island seem like a holiday resort in comparison. From what we have learned of the Nazi death camps we can safely say that these represented a new low in human degradation, a new depth in the obscene cruelties that one human being can impose on another.

Claim to Fame
It is not likely that the world had ever seen, or will ever again see, a worse demonstration of deliberate mass misery and murder. That, at least, Nazism can claim as a triumph.

Thinking of such things, one recalls Sir Winston Churchill's fear, in a slightly different context, that "God would weary of mankind." Certainly no creature on earth has demonstrated more reason for being forgotten than has man. The history of almost every portion of the human race includes, at one time or another, evidence of the degradation of cruelty.

We think of stories of Arab cruelties, of Chinese tortures, of Japanese mendacity, of African rites of pain and death. We think farther back in history of English dungeons and medieval tortures; of Spanish prisons, of Roman death orgies, of burnings in all parts of the "civilized" world which were the fate of witches, unbelievers, or even disgracers. We think of North American Indian tortures; of South Sea cannibals, of the Black Hole of Calcutta. It is a dismal list for the pride of creation, the creature nearest to God.

Perhaps only the Eskimos and some of the South Sea Islands races can escape inclusion in the roster.

Human Gamble

That's quite a load of guilt for mankind to carry as it faces a future which includes the nuclear bomb. It's true the account has a credit side—there have been feats of valor, self-sacrifice and endurance performed by human beings which earned them many honors, and perhaps a little extra consideration for humanity, where even one can be found that smelteth not.

But are we a fit race of creatures to plunge into the space age? Are we still, after all these thousands of years, too dangerous an element to be let loose in the universe? And if so, how many more thousands of years of planetary quarantine will it take before we could reasonably be allowed out?

It's something the whole human race might think over, from the topmost leaders to the humblest followers. For we all have a lot in common in this respect. And the atomic explosion would be such an easy way for the universe to rid itself of us.

Official Doctrine
From the American point of view this problem is, of course, the heart of any disarmament negotiation. Our official doctrine has been that surprise attacks can be prevented by inspection by "open skies" which would legalize aerial inspection, or by the U-2 flights which were illegal and clandestine in inspection.

The crucial point, which has been raised by Mr. Kissinger and by others, is that inspection, aerial or even on the ground, belongs to an age which is past—to one in which war is conducted by mobilizing armies and congregating bombers.

In the missile age, the more perfected the missile, the more ineffective will be any kind of inspection. For the essence of a perfected missile is that it is always ready to attack.

Therefore inspection from the air or even on the ground cannot hope to show in advance whether the missile which is ready to fly in fact be fired. To know that it would be necessary to inspect not the missile but the intention of the adversary.

It is significant that the President's "open skies" proposal was made in 1955, and he no doubt hoped that with aerial inspection the photographs would show the bombers lined up on the airfields for a surprise attack. For in 1955 few in this country had as yet realized what would come of the missile.

Not Reliable
We are only in the beginning of the missile age. But we are far enough into it to realize that inspection—even if the Soviet government would agree to it—is not to be relied upon. The weapons that matter most, because of their almost instant readiness, are uninspectable.

What, then, are we to rely upon? We have to rely upon what has now become the accepted doctrine of the Pentagon that is to say, on developing a deterrent power that cannot be knocked out by a surprise attack. This, and not inspection, is the way to reduce the tension which are caused by the race in nuclear armaments.

This will lead us to a position where we say to the Russians: "On the critical issue of the big lethal weapons, let us both base our security on developing invulnerable deterrents. Let this understanding that we will do this be our agreement. Then let us negotiate about saving money by reducing other components of military power."

WASHINGTON:

Only by Deterrent

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

ONCE again we see that progress in disarmament can follow, but it cannot precede, a detente, that is a relaxation of tension. After the U-2 and the collapse of the summit meeting a breakdown of the disarmament talks in Geneva was to be expected. Soviet-American relations had suddenly become much worse than they had been at any time since the death of Stalin, and there is not nearly enough good will to go on pretending that we are anywhere near a meeting of minds on disarmament. Discussions like those at Geneva about disarmament are a mere prelude only when there is a general and common feeling that relations are becoming more friendly, even if specific issues have not yet been resolved.

In the months before the heads of government were to meet in Paris in May, there was a hope, which originated in France, that Mr. K. would accept a tacit understanding to maintain the status quo in Germany, and to treat as progress at the summit an agreement on a nuclear test ban and some fresh instructions for the disarmament negotiations.

This hope was shattered by the U-2 affair and all the consequences of Mr. Khrushchev's rupture of personal relations with Mr. Eisenhower. Paris, Moscow, Tokyo, and Geneva have been the stages of a chain reaction.

Long Pause
We must now expect a long pause before the talks about disarmament are resumed.

In itself this pause would be a good thing. It meant that in Washington the problem would be restudied. For there is good reason to think that while the Soviet aim of total disarmament is almost certainly impossible and also undesirable, our stereotyped principle of disarmament with inspection is almost certainly not practical and increasingly obsolescent.

There is nothing we can do about the Soviet aim except to say that if total disarmament could be achieved, the disorders in the world would probably be very great.

But there is something we can do about our own position and that is to rethink it. This reconsideration will not take place before January. But it might take place after that.

The best available introduction to the question is in an article which has just appeared in "Foreign Affairs." The article is by Mr. Henry A. Kissinger of Harvard University, and it is a penetrating criticism of the problem of inspection and surprise attack.

Official Doctrine
From the American point of view this problem is, of course, the heart of any disarmament negotiation. Our official doctrine has been that surprise attacks can be prevented by inspection by "open skies" which would legalize aerial inspection, or by the U-2 flights which were illegal and clandestine in inspection.

THE TROUBLE IS, ALMOST ALL THAT WATER IS OVER MY HEAD!

The Wordsworth Country

AMBLESIDE, Westmorland—In early June the rhododendrons splash a clean mauve on the hillsides of England's lake-land. Above Rydal Water a patch lays a rectangular carpet on the slope.

Stott

Foxgloves grow wild by the roadside and in the marshy parts yellow water iris lift heads of gold among the dark green rushes. Buttercups and red poppies add color to the fields and in countless gardens copper birch shines in glistening bronze.

Dry walls, some of them centuries old, mark off the pastures where sheep, some shaggy, browse with contented cattle.

This is Wordsworth country, though it reaches beyond the scenes made familiar to students by the great nature poet. There is a leisurely timelessness to it. Bold crags lift in mountains, lakes lie in blue tranquility in the valleys. Quick running, clear streams wind between willow and birch borders and in the tarns water lilies dream of placid summer days.

We have made our small pilgrimage to Dove Cottage at Grasmere—the second for me in 27 years. As on the previous occasion, we have been impressed by the shrewd sympathy and easy humor of the housewifely custodian who has shown us around. She knows her Wordsworth. She also knows human nature and has her own pungent comments to make on the poet, the times in which he lived and the unusual guests, de Quincey, Coleridge, Scott, the elder Arnold and others who were familiar with the rooms of the small white dwelling where the master found much of his inspiration.

She points to a small and battered traveling case in which Wordsworth carried his essentials on his last trip to France. "Not much room there after he'd packed his nightgown. But they traveled light then—had to, since they packed their own luggage. Not like today. You see them lined up on the roadside carrying a load that would tire a horse. And they call that holidaying."

The lake land is crowded at this season. It will be worse when summer ripens. Cars and coaches throng the winding roads so narrow that they have to stop and frequently back up to a cutout to pass one another. Some areas are bright with the gay tents of campers and the pastel-shaded caravans—living trailers to Canadians. Speed boats and pleasure craft, as well as sight-seeing steamers, ply the larger bodies of water, along with inevitable water-ski artists. In spite of the throng, the countryside remains unspoiled, largely because the authorities keep it that way.

The old and the new have learned to live side by side here. You drive over lonely passes into valleys much the same as they were a couple of centuries or more ago. And you come, on a long trip, with time-shattering impact, to a view of Calder Hall on the west coast, where Britain is progressing in its efforts to harness the peaceful atom.

You swing through the narrow streets of villages where houses are built of uneven-sized slab stone cunningly cut and cemented so that the mortar does not show externally.

You stop at a country farmhouse for tea where the sole concession to modernity is a tank of gas in the dining room used for the lamp overhead. There you become acquainted with rum-butter which makes tea of thinly sliced home-made bread an event.

To this country come tourists from far and near—some in swank Jaguars that must halt for sheep and cattle meandering lazily across the road, some in hiking boots with over-filled rucksacks on their back.

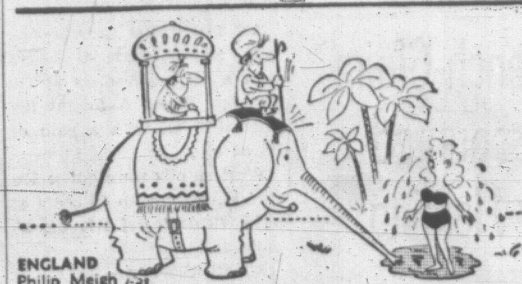

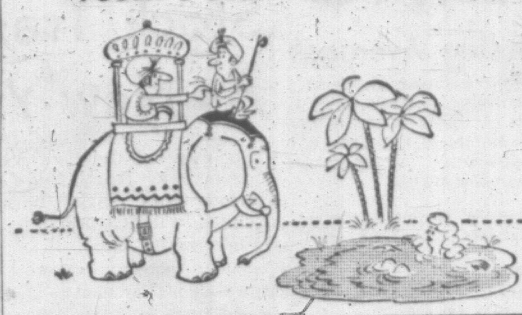

Pat and I have walked some of the better-known by-ways, "coached" over others, caught in the beauty of the country, seeing some sights that remind us of home, others familiar from school-day reading. We have seen the ghylls tumbling down steep hills—freshets that, from a distance, hang like long, slender shreds of white linen falling between the rocky confines of their stream courses.

We have seen Muncaster Castle, to which, we were told, Henry VI retreated for sanctuary after a disastrous day on the battlefield. We have gazed at the hillside close to Keswick where the last of Cumberland's kings fell in combat.

We have listened to talk of Ruskin, Sir Walter Scott, Charles Lamb, Southey and others who visited or lived in this region. We have gone back in time to an era when letters flowered here as the daffodils do each spring. We have come forward to glimpse the future between the towers and piles of Calder Hall. We have looked at an old spinning gallery used by a farmer's wife of an earlier generation when wool went from the sheep's back to the farmer's in the normal course of a cottage industry.

We have looked on lakes, where, in a distant winter, the boy-Wordsworth, skating, cut the tangent of a star. And sentimentally at least, we have felt some influence which gave to him "fair seed time" for the soul.

Castro Hunting 'Friends' As Economic Crisis Grows

ACROSS B.C.

Hit-Run Suspect Surrenders

(Compiled from CP)

VANCOUVER—Police said Sunday a young driver told RCMP at Lillooet that he believed he "hit someone" earlier in the day.

Vancouver police said the young driver, in his early 20s, was apparently involved in a fatal accident. William Hadden, 31, was killed when he was dragged five blocks by a car which police said failed to stop after the accident.

Police said the young driver apparently believed he had struck the man.

TRIO CAUGHT

REVELSTOKE—Three men suspected of looting a store safe in Revelstoke of $1,700 in cash and cheques were picked up at a roadblock near Kamloops Sunday.

Police said the trio was picked up after a call was sent to all interior points. The men will be returned to Revelstoke. Police said thieves entered the Revelstoke Co-Op store, broke into the safe and escaped with the cheques and cash. RCMP said the bulk of the loot consisted of cheques.

DOUKHOBOR FIRE

GRAND FORKS—A new Orthodox Doukhobor hall was almost destroyed by flames here early Saturday.

Police, who estimated the damage at $7,000, said arson was suspected and a widespread search for suspects was started.

John Verigin, spokesman for orthodox Doukhobors, said later, "There is no question but that this is arson."

"Whoever did this must be off his rocker." There was no mention either by police or Mr. Verigin of the radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect that has been blamed in the past for fires and bombings in the Kootenays.

RADIO STOPPED

VANCOUVER (CP)—A group of school-aged youths who set up their own radio station in a private home here and broadcast several hours were ordered off the air when the department of transport tracked it down Saturday night.

The youths, using a 50-watt transmitter and an open U.S. frequency, 1030, broadcast music for several hours Friday and Saturday nights. They said they will apply to operate their station, with the call letters CKSP, as Vancouver's first non-commercial, non-profit radio outlet.

HAVANA (AP)—Some cracks are beginning to appear in the veneer of Cuban economic self-reliance despite the Castro government's declaration it can solve its oil and sugar problems "with the help of friends."

Pro-government radio stations said other markets would be found if the United States slashes imports of Cuban sugar, and made it clear they are referring to markets in the Communist bloc.

The Castro regime appeared to be running into trouble on contracts for refuelling of its planes on foreign bases, apparently because of unwillingness to part with scarce U.S. dollars of foreign exchange. A spokesman for the government-controlled Cubana Airline, while insisting flights were normal, conceded planes are flying between Havana and Miami carrying extra fuel for round trips to avoid giving up dollars for refuelling in Miami.

Cubans. The national petroleum institute said more Soviet tankers are coming from the Black Sea.

The government-controlled newspaper El Mundo said Cuba already has opened talks with several Latin American countries concerning the possibility of forming a Latin American "oil bloc to compete with the world's major oil companies." The paper said representatives of Cuba, Peru, Mexico and Venezuela have discussed the proposal.

Aviation circles said Cubana Airlines has problems greater than that of a fuel shortage. One is the growing task of maintenance due to a shortage of parts. Two planes already have been dismantled to make repairs on others in the small air fleet.

There also was a report that six Cubana employees, including two pilots, have been held for investigation of a purported plot to defect to the United States with airline planes.

ONE PLANE STRANDED

A Cuban airliner was stranded in Madrid Sunday, apparently by lack of fuel. The line has a contract with Esso for refuelling, but as a result of government seizure of the Esso refinery in Cuba last week the Madrid branch refused to refuel the plane. Representatives of other oil companies would not supply any gasoline.

The Cuban government has seized the Esso, Shell and Texaco oil plants for refusing to refine Russian crude oil.

The government's new oil monopoly awaited arrival of a Soviet tanker said to be carrying 10,000 tons of crude for refining in the confiscated refineries now being operated by

Friendship With Peking To Be Sought by Japan

TOKYO (Reuters)—Japan Sunday announced its intention to seek friendship relations with Communist China. A foreign ministry statement said:

"Relations between Japan and Communist China include several factors which need to be settled in the light of international politics."

"Japan must make greater efforts to remove Communist China's misunderstandings regarding this country."

It appealed to the Peking regime to try to understand Japan's "good neighbor" policy.

Japan recognizes the Nationalist Chinese regime on Formosa but has no diplomatic relations with the Communist Chinese.

The statement was issued as a foreign ministry Blue Book on Diplomacy. It reviewed Japan's political and economic relations with the rest of the world.

The statement defended Japan's new security treaty with the United States.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

They Made Sure of a Plaque

LONDON—Dotted around London are to be seen circular blue plaques on the front of various buildings. These are put there by the London County Council and on closer inspection one sees that each one marks the fact that some famous person once resided there, ranging through every field of endeavor, from Admiral Lord Nelson to actor David Garrick.

Reyburn

It's an exclusive selection and not easy to get on the plaque list. The LCC started the idea in 1903 and in more than half a century has put up only 250 of them.

Folks like to be one up on the Joneses next door and be living in a house with a plaque, so the nominations pour in.

But more than half of them are turned down. And the LCC has a rule that nobody can rate this distinction until he has been 20 years dead.

For Colin Wilson, John Braine and four other authors who regard themselves as literary leaders of Britain's postwar world, this is too long a wait.

At a cost of $140 they have put up a plaque to themselves outside a house they shared for a time in London's Notting Hill.

It looks so similar to the genuine plaques that passers-by have wondered why the LCC has so suddenly lowered its sights. But the LCC has no option but to shrug it off.

"Anyone who feels self-important enough can erect a plaque to himself," they say. "There is no copyright in them."

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Make the Most of Acreage Lots

When purchasing an acreage lot for building a home it seems to me a sensible plan to make a rough sketch and written notes of the natural features of the lot.

Hilda

Trees, native shrubs and rock outcroppings can all be valuable assets if their potentialities are realized before building the home.

Imagination comes in handy, and experience counts too, so that sometimes it pays to get some opinions from friends or a professional.

Ideas of one's own are always worth close examination, for after all, the owner is the one whose pleasure and convenience is to be considered.

A distant view of mountains, open water or a nearby valley clothed with native trees are all desirable features and sometimes the removal of a tree or two will open up such a vista.

However, in my opinion, no trees should be removed at all before calm and careful consideration. If clearing must be done, the damaged, poorer specimens should come out first. Then, after another long look—judicious thinning may be done to let in air and light, leaving the more thickly planted sections to the northeast of the property. Their presence will form a valuable winter windbreak.

REFUGE

Undergrowth of native shrubs such as the wild rose, the white and pink spiraea of the wayside, the snowberry and the Oregon grape shrubs may be left in certain areas of acreage lots. If sheltered by a native tree or two, these thickets will provide a refuge and a home for wild birds. If not depending on fruit for your living, the birds can be a delight all year.

By clearing the ground between the thickets, or along a pathway through it, a planting of native wild flowers and ferns may be established.

Natural outcrops of rock are no longer considered a disadvantage on a home property. Careful treatment with suitable plant material, either native or otherwise will transform them into artistically satisfying features of the home surroundings.

TV FOR THE DEAF
At last we have come up with a simple electronic device that enables a hearing aid wearer to understand TV even better than a normal hearing person. It is the equivalent of listening on your own private line. Fits any radio or TV set and can be used with any transistor hearing aid, even eye-glass models.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Stock Trading Slow

Lack of commercial news of any importance and the closing of the New York stock exchange for the Independence Day holiday in the United States left the Toronto stock market with no guidance today, and it declined in light trading.

Prices at the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges were reported fractionally lower with little trading.

AT-MONTREAL Canada Veneer placed industrial losers with a two-point drop at 32. Bathurst Paper A fought the general trend with a gain of 1 1/2 at 45 1/2.

Western oils were quiet: Pacific Petroleum up 35 cents at $8.15, Central Del Rio off 25 cents at $4.15.

AT-MONTREAL Steel Co. of Canada led losers, down 1 1/2 at 68. Dominion Oil Cloth at 33 lost 1/2 and Bank of Montreal at 53 fell 1/2.

Dominion Stores at 54 gained 1 1/2 to pace winners. Bathurst Paper A and Paper "A" at 45 1/2 and Consolidated Paper at 40 both gained one point.

In mines, Noranda at 37 1/2 gained 1/2 and Aluminium at 30 dropped 1/2.

AT LONDON stock market prices were mixed in most sections today.

The brightest spots were recorded in gilt-edged securities. The industrial section showed signs of weakening.

Many trans-Atlantic favorites were off but some, including Phillips Lamps, recorded good gains.

TODAY'S GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CPI) — Broader interest in barley and continued export business in flax were reported at the close today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

The United Kingdom was credited with taking 500,000 bushels of barley during the weekend. Small quantities of flax also went to the United Kingdom and France.

Flax trade was slow with American interests limited by their national holiday. The market was irregular and mostly easier. Selling was prompted by favorable crop reports and good rains in the grain belt. Export houses were buyers on recessions.

Oats and barley trade was quiet with evidence of some shipping demands. Broader interest in Canadian barley developed.

CHEQUE SPREE

Admitted By Two Men

Two members of a ring suspected of cashing about $2,000 worth of forged cheques over the holiday weekend were charged in city and Saanich police courts today after their arrest by police of three Greater Victoria departments.

Frank Almos, 23, and Kenneth D. Thompson, 24, both of Vancouver, were remanded after pleading guilty to four charges of uttering forgeries.

City and Saanich police indicated further charges are pending.

Some 20 cheques — all for about $94 — were cashed in a spree which began when the two men landed here from Vancouver.

RENTED CAR

The pair was thought to have been accompanied by a third man when they rented a car and began driving around the city Thursday cashing what appeared to be company cheques at super markets and other business places.

The machine written cheques bore the name Pacific Coast Roofing and Insulation Co. Ltd., were written on the Royal Bank of Canada and had the signature of "H. McGregor," which police said was fictitious.

Apparently hiding their time Dominion Day, the men continued to present and cash cheques Saturday and at 1:30 p.m. they did so at a Shop-Easy market at Shelbourne and Cedar Hill Cross Road.

TOOK NUMBER

The store manager suspected something was amiss and noted the licence number of their car.

Saanich police broadcast an appeal to other police to watch for the auto and it was spotted by Colwood RCMP shortly after behind Colwood Inn.

One man was arrested in the beer parlor, the other in a downtown hotel and both were in custody by 4 p.m.

Detectives noted a similarity between this case and a previous one in which it was found that large numbers of cheques were forged and sold for a few cents each in Vancouver. The "passers" then cashed them and paid a percentage to a agent.

When the rented car was searched by detectives, about a quarter of the total amount believed to have been obtained here, plus a number of uncashed cheques were recovered.

Almos was charged with uttering cheques for $95.43 and $94.25 in Victoria, and will reappear in court Friday.

Thompson was charged with uttering a cheque for $94.23 in Victoria and one for a similar amount in Saanich. He was remanded to Thursday in Saanich court, Friday in city court.

OAKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Lawrence Woo, 21, a Chinese science graduate of distinction from St. Dunstan's University at Charlottetown, P.E.I., said Sunday he was rejected by five Canadian universities when he applied to enter their medical schools.

Burmese-born Woo said the Universities of British Columbia, Manitoba, Ottawa, McGill and Dalhousie have a quota of two Chinese students a year in their medical courses.

A graduate with an average of 79 per cent with a Bachelor of Science degree, the student now works as a waiter in a hotel here.

WIDE SEARCH FOR ESCAPEES

DORCHESTER, N.B. (CP) — Police in eastern Canada and New England were alerted as a search widened for three young prisoners who escaped from the federal penitentiary here early Sunday.

The three, Frank Alfred Klare, 27, of Toronto; Gordon Mathews, 25, and Joseph Roy, 22, both of Saint John; escaped by lifting out chunks of flagstone in the floor of the cells and dropping into a basement.

From there they made their way to a door, which they broke through, prison officials said. They then crossed the exercise yard and scaled the 15-foot wall.

GENE FOWLER

FAMED NEWSMAN DIES

Expense Account Genius

By JAMES BACON
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gene Fowler, a newspaper man who often spoke lightly of death and once described heaven as "that great city room in the sky," is dead at 70.

Fowler, reporter, author and screenwriter, died in his garden Saturday of a heart attack only seconds after he complained of indigestion pains.

At his funeral Wednesday from St. Martin of Tours Roman Catholic Church, only flowers that Gene grew himself will be on the coffin.

Fowler the gardener was far removed from the flamboyant Fowler the reporter.

Once a mounted policeman stopped Gene and a buddy weaving precariously down New York's Broadway in a flivver. As the officer made out the ticket, Gene jumped on the horse and galloped through busy traffic waving his hat wildly and yelling "Yippee."

He went $1,500 over authorized expense and had to dream up a wild tale of how he hired a dogsled and a team of prize huskies complete with Eskimo driver. To add color he told how the lead dog was killed protecting his mate from a wolf pack.

It passed all his bosses in New York except one accountant who noted that there was one item of $60 unaccounted for. Gene was asked to explain.

His cabled reply:
"Money spent for flowers for bereaved bitch."

HE HATED EDITORS

Fowler always considered himself a reporter and hated editors as only reporters can.

Gas Bomb Damages

Negroes' New Home

PORTLAND, AP — A house being built for a Negro couple who recently won a federal court victory in a race discrimination case suffered extensive damage northeast of here late Sunday night.

Sheriff's deputies said a gasoline bomb apparently had been tossed off in the partially-completed, split level home of Mr. and Mrs. Rowan M. Wiley. They had not yet moved in.

They said the house was insured, and, "we'll start building it over again. We are not giving up."

EXPENSE ARTIST

Reporters to this day talk of Fowler's expense accounts the way art students discuss Picasso.

Once in the 1920s, two balloonists got lost in the Arctic Circle. Gene hired a train that got nowhere near the frozen north, but he saw to it that all of his newspaper buddies got all the food and booze they wanted.

Streets littered

Streets of this one-time stronghold of society were left in a litter of smashed glass, trampled cans and tear gas canisters.

Festival president Louis L. Lorillard put the blame for the outbreaks directly on the city. In a statement after Sunday's board meeting, he said, city officials had warnings there might be trouble but had neglected to act. He said the festival suffered financial loss and damages from the cancellations. The festival itself, he added, was blameless.

Festival producer George Wein noted the 15,000 jazz buffs attending the performance had remained orderly.

OVER 100 TREATED

More than 100 persons were treated for bruises and cuts in the wake of the clashes. More than a dozen youths were arraigned on assault and revealing charges. Some 170 others rounded up in the melee were released with orders to get out of town.

Newport police chief Joseph A. Radice said the heavy influx of young people caught the police department by surprise.

"We were prepared to handle a 2,000 overflow festival crowd, a little bit more than in years past," he said.

"But we never imagined that the milling throngs outside Freebody Park would run between 6,000 and 10,000. Even if we had had the state police on hand earlier, we could not have coped with the situation."

'POOR MAN'S' PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE

NEW YORK (AP) — The "poor man's party" candidate for president, a man who once proposed annexing Canada to the United States, happily departed on a nationwide campaign tour Friday.

On his red, white and blue trailer a sign said "Down with Khrushchev, vote Krajewski for president." Inside the trailer he carried a seven-week-old pig named "Peace and Prosperity."

"I'm going to try my best," said Henry Krajewski, 47, New Jersey tavern owner and one-time pig farmer.

It is his third try for the presidency, running as head of what he calls the American third party.

Hollywood 'Monsters' Don't Bite

Hunting prehistoric monsters is lots of fun providing the monsters are made of wood, says Victoria actor Ivo Henderson.

Mr. Henderson has just returned here from Hollywood where he was featured in the new movie version of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's horror story "The Lost World."

It tells of a lost colony of prehistoric monsters in central America — discovered by a party of explorers and scientists.

Mr. Henderson is cast as a British scientist, with Claude Rains as the professor in charge, Michael Rennie as Lord John Russell and Jill St. John as the leading lady.

"It is of course the old Hollywood magic," laughed Mr. Henderson. "The monsters are working models faked to appear alive."

HERE THIS MONTH
"The Lost World" will be shown in Victoria later this month.

Mr. Henderson is staying at the Empress Hotel with his wife, the former Laura Audain, a member of the Dunsmuir family. They first went to Hollywood in 1936 when Mr.

Henderson appeared with Errol Flynn in a Robin Hood movie. They returned here during the Second World War but resumed their Hollywood residence in 1945.

Raised in Victoria, Mr. Henderson was originally a dance pianist.

Bragg's Record Great Climax To U.S. Trials

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Don Bragg of Penns Grove N.J., brought the 1960 Olympic tryouts to a brilliant climax Saturday by smashing the World record for the pole vault with a superlative effort of 15 feet, 9 1/4 inches.

The recognized mark is 15 feet 8 1/4 inches by Bob Gutowski, set here in 1957. Gutowski himself fell by the wayside in the steady climb to the stratosphere and failed to make the U.S. team. The crowd of 65,000 went wild.

Bragg's great vault matched in superlative achievement the record seven-foot 3 1/2 inch high jump of John Thomas of Boston University Friday.

A third world mark, but of a qualified nature, was set by Ray Norton who emerged as the only double winner of the meet and the head man of the American sprint contingent that will go to Rome for the games starting Aug. 25. Norton did 20.5 for the 200 metres around one curve, one-tenth of a second under the standard.

Three Share Tourney Lead
FLINT, Mich. (AP)—A four-way tie involving Gene Littler, Don January, Mason Rudolph and Gay Brewer Jr., developed in the third round of the $52,000 Flint Open golf tournament Sunday.

They were tied at 212, four strokes under par. Stan Leonard, of Vancouver, was tied with several others four strokes back at 216.

The festive pot-of-gold event is so scrambled at the head of the pack that two dozen players have a shot at the $9,000 first prize money in today's stretch drive.

Record-Breakers
MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia's Maria Iitkina equalled the Olympic record for the 100 metres women's sprint Saturday by clocking 11.4 seconds.

Iolanda Balas, of Romania, the holder of the women's high jump world record, again cleared six feet. Her official record is 5 feet 11 1/2 inches, but she has a leap of 6 feet 3 inches awaiting ratification.

Swim Squad Sparked By Pearce, Cameron
VANCOUVER—Classy performances by Jim Pearce and Stan Cameron highlighted Victoria YMCA's fourth-place finish in the annual North Van Kinsmen swimming meet at the weekend.

Cameron was timed in 1:16.7 in taking the 100-yard breaststroke and capped off his day's work by picking up ribbons in two other events in the 15 and 16-year-old age group. He took a second in the 400-yard freestyle and third in the 400-yard freestyle. Pearce, timed in 1:02.2, captured the 100-yard freestyle for boys in the 13-14 division.

Tricia Holland and Dave Quissey also picked up thirds for the Victoria squad. Vancouver Swimming Club easily won team honors.

DON'S A HAPPY FELLA

First to congratulate happy pole-vaulter Don Bragg was his pretty fiancée Terry Fiore, who ran from Stanford Stadium stands to greet her hero after he set new world record of 15 feet, 9 1/4 inches in U.S. Olympic trials Saturday. Bragg's record was one of 13 set in trials. (AP Wirephoto)

The hands do not lead the action in the downswing. They are pulled down almost as if they were resisting the desire of the hips, shoulders and arms to deliver maximum balanced power. Not until they are nearly to a point over the ball, as indicated by the arrow in the accompanying illustration, do the hands finally give way to the temptation and release and guide the clubhead into the ball and through the hitting zone.

At every point—even when "pouring the clubhead on" to the ball—the hands know their place to be a co-operative part. They are not the makers of an independent swing within a swing.

ALBION MOVES UP

Alcos Will Admit Bob Is Versatile

When you come right down to it, Bob Mainwaring's a talented batsman. This doesn't mean, however, the veteran Victoria cricketer cannot take his turn on attack. And for his bowling, Alcos will have to admit it's also rather effective.

Mainwaring was the stand-out Sunday at Beacon Hill Park as Albion defeated Alcos by 74 runs. Result of the day's only match in the Victoria and District Cricket Association moved Albion from sixth to fourth place in the league table.

Albion scored 123 for four declared while Alcos replied with only 49.

SCORED 37
Mainwaring batted for 37 runs, not out, then used his slow bowling to claim five Alcos wickets for 25 runs.

In Saturday's match, Oak Bay defeated Five C's by 50 runs to move into second place.

Getting 41 runs from Paul Gaddan, Oak Bay declared at 125 for five, then dismissed Five C's for 75. Bert Cuppage took four wickets for 11 runs for Oak Bay.

League standings:
Inceps 8 4 1 1 31
Oak Bay 10 4 1 1 31
Nanaimo 9 3 3 3 18
Albion 8 3 3 3 18

DUDEN B.C. OPEN CHAMP

Putter May Be Ugly But Scores Beautiful

VANCOUVER—Bob Duden, of play on the Gold Trail, a tournament-tested professional from Portland, today is $750 richer—his prize for supplying Vancouver followers with an impressive demonstration of golf.

It was this unattached golfer with the strange putter who Saturday toured Marine Drive golf course in 33-34—67, four under par, to win the biggest tournament in the province—the 72-hole B.C. Open.

That gave Duden a four-day total of 268, 16 strokes under par for the distance. Duden had earlier shot brilliant rounds of 68-69-64.

Officials today were still checking to see if Duden's score was the lowest ever recorded in a B.C. tournament.

It was an exciting performance. He was the only man in the large field of 113 to shoot four consecutive sub-par rounds. Par at Marine Drive is 71.

Duden's blistering pace was too much for defending champion Lyle Crawford, Langara pro. He finished 14 strokes back of Duden. Crawford Saturday shot a one-over-par 72 for a final total of 282. It earned him second place money of $450 in the $3,000 tourney.

One stroke back of Crawford was Mount St. Wash., pro Harry Umbreit, who finished last Saturday with a three-under-par 68 after earlier rounds of 68-70-71. His fine performance earned him $300.

TIED FOR FOURTH
Professionals Al Feldman of Tacoma and Bill Wright, 21, of Edmonton shared fourth place. Both had 287. Feldman shot a final round 72, Wright a 73. Host pro Bill Thompson came home with a neat final round 69 to finish one stroke farther back.

B.C. champ Ron Willey won top amateur honors, with 289. He had to share that seventh-place seat though with Maple Ridge pro Don Ross, opening-day leader, with 66.

Canadian amateur champion Johnny Johnston of Marine Drive, ran into iron troubles on the last two days and ended up with a 292, three strokes down.

It'll be quite some time before the 1,000 or so spectators who witnessed Saturday's final round forget Duden and his unconventional, croquet-style putter.

DEADLY WEAPON
But, as unconventional and ugly as it may look, it is a deadly tool in the hand of a real master. The proof: Duden one-putted 25 greens during the four days. He had 21 birdies.

Further proof: of Duden's sensational putter, he only registered five bogeys.

If Duden's putting failed to impress, his graceful, smooth-swinging drives did. It was the very rare exception when Duden sent a drive anywhere but straight down the fairway. He was only in the rough four times. He only hit two traps.

The win was the second straight tournament title for the hardened veteran. Duden won the Lilac City-Washington Open last weekend. His score for 72 holes: an impressive 271, 13 under par.

Duden, who has seen years of play on the Gold Trail, plans to return to the circuit in August. Last year he won $10,000 playing off and on there with the best of them.

Berths in B.C. Final For Capitanos, Royals

VANCOUVER — It'll be the defending champion New Westminster Royals against the surprising Capitanos in the battle for the soccer championship of B.C. next Saturday.

Royals rolled to a convincing 5-1 victory over the Victoria Evcoes Saturday, while Caps edged past Carls 2-1 on an 11th-hour goal Sunday.

Saturday went as expected. Sunday didn't — although Carls had enough chances to have won handily.

FAST BREAKS
Caps, operating on a fast-break system with Frank Sealy and Normie McLeod providing the forward dash, got their winner with three minutes remaining in the game.

Sealy was the spade man, though busting George Young put the ball in the net.

Earlier Bill Smith gave Caps a 1-0 lead on a fine header from McLeod's corner kick with 31 minutes gone.

Caps' lead stood for only 12 minutes. Logan Tait was penalized for obstructing Ian Wilson almost on Caps' goal line and from the resultant indirect free kick, Harry Price slipped the ball to Robbie Chalmers, who equalized off the goalpost.

HAD AN EDGE

Carls had an edge in the second half and twice Caps' defenders had to boot the ball off their goal line with goalie Fred Biscoe beaten. Another free kick by Vinitio Canta scraped along the cross-bar.

Saturday, with John Woods making his first appearance for Royals, the Westminster squad had too much for Victoria.

Les Fabri and Brian Philley each scored twice with wing-half Ron Paton potting the other. George Paul got Victoria's lone goal midway through the second half.

Fabri was the individual star of the game, making life miserable for Vics' full-back Jack Frampton.

The Hungarian left-winger had a hand in every goal but Philley's first and made certain his selection for the B.C. All-Star side to play the Russians here on Aug. 24.

Portuguese Champs

LISBON (AP) — Belemenses won the Portuguese Soccer Cup championship by defeating Bepos 5-4 at Reynolds Road Park. The loss knocked Bepos out of the playoffs.

STEADY PLAY by Uplands' Gordie Pellow (above) gave Victoria golfer annual North Island Open golf title Sunday. Pellow carded 27-hole score of 33-35-103 to beat out Doug Johnson of Port Alberni with Owen Ellis of Comox third.

Babe Ruth All-Stars Gain Split

The stock of Victoria's Babe Ruth League baseball players went up a couple of notches Sunday, thanks to Dave Woodley.

A sparkling three-hitter by the chunky, all-around Victoria athlete gave Victoria All-Stars an 8-1 victory over Seattle Chevs and a split in a two-game exhibition series at Beacon Hill Park.

The visiting Seattle team took a 15-9 decision Saturday.

WALKED ONLY ONE
Woodley, with a 7-0 won-lost record in league play, slammed the door after walking the first batter to face him. The runner completed the circuit on a pair of errors to score Seattle's lone run Sunday. It was the only walk off Woodley, who struck out six.

In the rival Evening Optimist Babe Ruth League Sunday, Lakehill Lockers assured themselves of a playoff berth by defeating Bepos 5-4 at Reynolds Road Park. The loss knocked Bepos out of the playoffs.

LIGHTNING HITS CROSS FOUR PILGRIMS KILLED

CUNEO, Italy (AP)—A bolt of lightning struck a cross Sunday and brought death to four persons and injuries to 30 others during a Roman Catholic pilgrimage to the top of nearby Mt. Bisalta.

About 2,000 pilgrims were caught in the sudden storm near the top of the 7,920-foot Alpine peak.

The pilgrims, led by Bishop Guido Tonetti of Cuneo, had climbed the mountain to erect a small statue of the Virgin on its summit. The storm broke soon after they started down.

One group of pilgrims took shelter at the foot of a pedestal supporting a big wooden cross. Lightning hit the cross splintering it, and striking through the group.

Among the dead was a 16-year-old girl. Several of the injured were in serious condition.

70 Boys At Glinz Lake For Camping

Seventy boys in the age group of 9 to 15 left Saturday to enjoy 12 days in the outdoors at the Victoria YMCA Camp-Thunderbird on the shores of Glinz Lake near Sooke.

Program of outdoor activities includes archery, nature lore, camp craft, swimming, instruction, boating, handicrafts and hiking.

The camp this summer will be opened for four sessions—from July 2 to 12; July 15 to 21; July 23 to Aug. 3; Aug. 5 to 11.

Clayton Cameron, director of the camp, said there are still a few vacancies for the present and third camping session. Application should be addressed to the YMCA. The camp is open to both members and non-members.

Cooke Elected To Head G & S Branch

Newly elected president of the London Gilbert and Sullivan Society, Victoria branch, is Ron Cooke.

Other officers are: James Mead-Robbins, vice-president; Jean Langton, secretary; John Cox, treasurer; Ivan Howell, business director; Fred Cox, program director; and Jen Rough, social director.

The recently formed society is devoted to the appreciation of the works of Gilbert and Sullivan and does not actually perform works by them as does the Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Operatic Society.

Tornado winds and torrential rains caused damage in the millions of dollars and left at least three persons dead and 20 injured.

Trees and power lines were topped, homes flooded, and roads blocked by fallen debris. Airport operations were curtailed.

Today, thunderstorms dropped 2.86 inches of rain in the Tulsa, Okla., area in less than four hours.

Hardest hit by the weekend turbulence was Indiana's Upper Wabash River Valley, where 75-mile-an-hour winds Sunday battered the communities of Peru and Logansport into a state of emergency and caused property damage in the millions of dollars.

HOUSE TRAILERS UPSET

Eleven persons were injured in Peru after winds up-ended 10 house trailers.

Police, civil defence workers and national guardsmen were ordered into Logansport to help clear up the morass of twisted trees, broken utility poles, live power lines and battered automobiles.

At Lake Schafter, 22 miles east of Logansport, a woman was killed when a tree toppled on her house trailer. And a teenager was feared drowned in the lake after his capsize boat was discovered in the waters, its lights still burning.

Tales of narrow escapes were commonplace. A policeman whose car jolted to a stop found that it was hanging over a missing section of a bridge.

In New York State, thunderstorms battered Schenectady just nine days after a tornado had caused an estimated $5,000,000 damage.

Two deaths in the area were attributed to the storm.

Last month was one of the driest and windiest Junes in years, according to the Victoria weather office.

The total precipitation was only 27 inch of rainfall, the lowest since June, 1951.

As for the wind, it averaged 13.4 miles an hour, nearly as windy as 1957 which had an average of 14.1 miles an hour.

Spies, Mannequins Mix During Paris Fashion Week

In the last few years women in mink have slugged it out for choice positions, and writers and fashion spies have been thrown into jail for doodling, when the great French couturiers unwrap their collections. There are millions of dollars at stake again now. Don't miss this backstage account in this week's big Star Weekly, now on sale.

Chinese Combat 'Insult'

TORONTO (CP)—Chinese here opened a campaign Sunday to clear the reputation of Chinese immigrants.

Dr. Henry Lore, a Toronto doctor, told more than 1,000 fellow Chinese that RCMP raids on Chinese communities across the country May 24 were "the biggest insult to the Chinese people in the history of Chinese immigration to Canada."

He said the fate of future generations of Chinese-Canadians is uncertain unless Chinese here unite their forces. The gathering agreed to contribute to a fund for a lawyer to represent their interests.

The RCMP raids came after officials uncovered evidence of a ring bringing Chinese to Canada illegally.

Charley Foo of Winnipeg, member of a group of Chinese leaders who conferred with the federal government on Chinese immigration, said Chinese were forced "to take irregular channels to bring members of their families to Canada only because of the unfair immigration laws."

"We must unite and keep up the good work we have already started," he said, "join our hands and appeal to a government of fair minded people."

All-Out Push Needed To Handle Holidayers

Victoria was bursting at its seams during the year's finest weather over the holiday weekend.

And things are still going strong as U.S. visitors in uncounted numbers here today are celebrating Independence Day—the first marked by the 50 states.

Here is how the travel picture shaped up: The Black Ball ferry to Port Angeles carried a phenomenal 5,652 foot passengers and 1,330 cars Friday through Sunday.

At 11 a.m. today there were already 20 cars at the wharf here waiting for the 2 p.m. sailing.

The Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen ferry business had overloads.

TCA averaged 700 passengers daily Thursday through Sunday. Flights were increased from 21 to 32 per day.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines had "everything rolling." The company even hired additional buses to handle the passenger flow.

A CPR spokesman described traffic as "terrific."

HOTELS, MOTELS HAPPY Hotels and motels, with exception of a few outlying motels, were packed.

Extra sightseeing buses in the city were used by the B.C. Electric while numerous out-of-town visitors utilized the normal bus service.

Traffic to beaches was heavy, while additional buses took persons to a 3 p.m. Sunday band concert at Beacon Hill Park.

The sun smiled from Friday noon on and the weatherman predicts excellent weather through Tuesday.

Temperatures ranged from 65 to 74 degrees with light winds.

B.C.'s new ferry service between Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen did a roaring business over the holiday weekend—but still is not saying officially how many cars it is carrying.

During Sunday, capacity loads were being carried both ways by the two ships operating across the gulf and the traffic was so heavy that an extra trip had to be operated at the end of the day.

While the ships have a stated capacity of 106 cars, there were as many as 114 on some trips.

It was the first major test of the new system's capacity since it began operation on June 15.

Most people agreed it did a good job. Despite the full loads, turn around time was barely 20 minutes for unloading and loading in two lines of cars.

LONG WAIT But the huge holiday rush meant that some people had to wait over two hours or more for the next trip.

Besides those taking the trips, there were hundreds of sightseeing cars at the Swartz Bay end and special commissioners were on duty to sort out the traffic.

At the Tsawwassen end on Saturday it was estimated that 15,000 sightseeing cars had to be turned back by traffic police to avoid jamming up the cars heading for the ferries.

The Toll Authority which operates the ferries and greets passengers with a sign welcoming you aboard "Your" ferry, maintained its policy of silence against giving out traffic figures. No one has yet made any formal explanation why this has been adopted.

SOONER, LATER An official of the accounts side of the authority said today that he supposed sooner or later revenue figures would be published, but there will be no statements on specific traffic.

However, the enormous load carried over the holiday led to some speculation that Highway Minister Gagliardi might shortly carry out his promise to add extra trips to the eight-a-day now, or consider building another ferry boat to handle the load.

POLICE WATCHING FOR BOTTLE-SMASHERS

'Boobytrapped' Beaches Taking Toll in Cut Feet

By MICHAEL ROSE The "beachboys" are at it again. The bottle-smashing hoodlums, whose peculiar pastime has taken the fun out of summer for hundreds of children and adults, are "boobytrapping" district beaches at a fast pace.

Police and hospital officials report a steady increase in the toll of slashed feet and toes as the hot weather draws Victorians to the seaside.

"We do everything we can to keep our beaches free of glass," said parks commissioner Herbert Warren, "but it is impossible to keep ahead of the hoodlum element."

BEACH PATROL "Along the waterfront we have a man doing nothing but cleaning up rubbish and broken glass."

In hospital emergency wards nurses and doctors are prepared for the influx of cut limbs.

"It's not the actual cut that matters so much," said one, "it's the accompanying infection from the dirty sand and gravel always present."

A Royal Jubilee Hospital official said they had 17 cases in one day last year.

District police chiefs will try to cut down on the glass smashing by increasing patrols in the beach and park areas.

GOOD SENSE But they emphasized many accidents could be prevented by good sense on the part of adults and proper supervision of children by parents.

"Some of it is just plain carelessness on the part of parents," said Saanich Chief Bert Pearson. "They allow their children to play in the water with bottles and it's no wonder that accidents occur."

PICK THEM UP Chief John Blackstock of Victoria called for the co-operation of anyone seeing broken glass.

OFF PT. ROBERTS "We are using our microwave system to minimize delay," an official said, "and many calls are being re-routed through Nanaimo."

Cause of the cable break was not known. It is located 1,000 feet off the Point Roberts promontory south of Vancouver.

The cable ship Brico was engaged on repair work this morning.

ROAD TALK SET Capital Improvement District Commission will meet Tuesday to continue discussion on the proposed widening and improving of Foul Bay Road.

Victoria, Oak Bay and Saanich ask a grant for the approach from Fort to the University.

20-Day Term One man went to jail for 20 days, another was fined $250 when they pleaded guilty in city police court today to charges of impaired driving.

It was the second such conviction since May, 1959, for Mike Malachowski, 811 Russell, who was arrested after a collision on Bay Street.

Eighteen-year-old George Lamont, New Westminster, who was fined, crashed the car he was driving into a power pole on Esquimalt Road, causing an estimated $500 damage to the car.

Magistrate William Ostler suspended driver's licences in both cases.

Marine Cable Break Delays Phone Calls Long-distance phone calls between Victoria and Vancouver were being re-routed via Nanaimo and by micro-wave (wireless) circuits today after a cable snapped in the Strait of Georgia.

The B.C. Telephone Company's Victoria office reported heavy phone traffic following the long weekend holiday, and some callers had to wait for open lines.

Snapping of the cable meant that only 18 of the company's regular 64 lines between Victoria and Vancouver were left in service.

ASK THE TIMES Q. Does it take more, less, or the same amount of time to boil an egg on a mountain top compared with sea level? H.R.G.

A. It takes longer to boil an egg on a mountain. Sea level atmosphere pressure is 14.7 pounds per square inch and water boils at 212 degrees Fahrenheit. On top of a 10,000-foot mountain, pressure per square inch is only about 10 pounds and water boils at 194 degrees Fahrenheit. Thus it takes much longer to prepare a hard boiled egg atop a mountain as boiling occurs when the vapor pressure of the liquid equals atmospheric pressure.

Construction Of Houses Cut In Half

Having construction has been cut more than half in Greater Victoria by a continuing shortage of money.

The drought of mortgage funds—which began drying up this spring—has caused a comparative loss of 239 homes worth $2,725,340 during the first half of this year in Victoria, Saanich and Oak Bay.

Esquimalt, which does not keep a cumulative breakdown on housing construction, reports a similar 50% cutback in dwelling construction.

During the first six months of 1959, the three larger municipalities issued a total of 499 building permits for dwellings, valued at an estimated $6,041,940.

The corresponding period of this year has been 260 permits worth $3,316,000 issued.

All the drop is blamed on the shortage of mortgage funds by the four building departments.

Non-dwelling construction, which does not rely on NHA mortgages, had maintained and in some cases exceeded last year's levels in the area.

Graphic examples of the effect of the mortgage shortage is contained in mid-year reports by the four building departments listing number of June dwelling permits and estimated values, with corresponding figures for June, 1959, in brackets:

Victoria—four, $58,500 ($3,392,000); Saanich—30, $367,500 ($2,724,300); Oak Bay—five, $101,000 ($2,205,050); Esquimalt—three, $54,200 ($1,138,000).

Nanaimo Teacher Gets Special B.C. Scholarship A Nanaimo man has been awarded a special B.C. government teacher scholarship.

The other winner of the first teacher-advancement scholarships is Joyce Fett, of Vancouver, who gets $2,000 for psychology study at the University of Toronto.

U.S. TOURIST ROBBED BY PROWLER

A visitor from California was victim of a sneak thief who crept into his motel room and stole a pair of trousers and wallet at 4 a.m. Sunday.

Police found the trousers in a front yard at 457 Quebec at 6:50 a.m., and a second California visitor picked up the wallet on grounds of the Legislative Buildings shortly after 1 p.m.

Crest Motel called city police at 4:05 a.m., reporting the prowler, after Thomas J. William Ulmer, of Concord, missed his trousers and wallet containing a $5 bill, driver's licence, credit cards and personal papers.

He said he believed a man ran out a rear door of the Belleville Street motel toward Quebec Street.

Police searched the area without success, except to recover the trousers.

By the time A. C. Blair, of Carmichael, Calif., found Ulmer's wallet, the first tourist had already left the city.

I'm Looking For Good Men

Mayor Percy Scourrah today said he will appoint a citizens' committee to help the Capital Regional Planning Board's urban renewal survey of the city.

Surveys of all city residential areas have been completed—pinpointing several blighted areas—and the building-by-building survey of the commercial strip fronting the inner harbor is underway now.

"There's a lot of work to be done because every building must be surveyed for its present condition and what could be done with the location under a redevelopment plan," said the mayor.

NEED GOOD MEN "I'm looking for good men to serve on the advisory committee now. We'll need a real estate expert, a banker, a trust company officer as well as some other experts for the committee."

The $25,000 year-long study began in January with an $18,000 grant from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation which would provide most of the financing for any slum clearance program undertaken.

City council will decide whether or not the survey is implemented.

The mayor said senior officials of the civic service will also be formed into a committee to help the survey under CRPB director Brahm Weisman.

"This survey will provide the city with vital information," said the mayor.

He added that a renewal program would be "extremely important" to taxpayers.

"We have 1,500 single family dwellings, grouped in several areas, that at present have an assessment under $2,000."

"If we could have them replaced with better homes, the assessments could rise to $5,000 or $6,000. The importance of that to all taxpayers is obvious."

MORE JOBS In addition, if council decides to proceed with a renewal program, it would provide employment for many workers in the house construction industry which is hard pressed at present.

"This would not be a speculative venture because it merely involves replacing old, worn-out houses with modern homes."

In other communities of Canada, renewal programs have been carried out with CMHC, provincial governments and civic governments combining efforts on a 75-15-10 per cent basis to finance the projects.

Victoria YMCA has a few vacancies for boys of nine years and over wishing to go to the Y camp at Camp Thunderbird, Glinz Lake. Those interested should phone the YMCA at EV 5-8777 or call at 1203 Blanshard.

LT.-COL. R. F. Ramsay, 290 Helmcken Road, commanding officer of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) has been elected president of the B.C. branch of the Canadian Infantry Association.

He was named at the recent annual meeting at Camp Vernon.

Navy men Dennis Kenneth Harvie, HMCS Skeena, and Dennis Garth Cook, HMCS Naden, were each fined $50 Saturday in city police court for causing a disturbance.

Police said they were found fighting on Yates Street Friday at 12:20 a.m.

Victoria fire department wheeled all its heavy equipment into action twice early today as alarms to a downtown hotel and Gorge plywood mill were rung in.

A call to Yates Hotel, 712 Yates, at 12:05 was found to be a false alarm, and at B.C. Forest Products mill the fire was confined to an electric motor which had overheated causing slight damage, at $30.

Saanich firemen fought a stubborn grass fire for four hours from 1:40 p.m. Saturday at 4498 Shoreacres, Ten Mile Point. Flames were controlled within an hour, but stamping out the embers took longer.

Mrs. Dorothy Grover and Mrs. Mary Casilio will address a public meeting at 8 tonight in the Newstead Hall on the subject: "Blessing Through the Known Way." The meeting has been arranged by Victoria Branch, British-Israel World Federation (Canada).

CHILDREN POISONED BY LABURNUM 'FEED' A warning against laburnum seed poisoning was issued today by Dr. Murray Anderson, medical administrator at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Two children, aged 5 and 7, received emergency treatment at the hospital today. They had eaten seeds from laburnum trees.

Taken violently ill, they were rushed to the hospital where a stomach pump was used to get rid of the poison.

"All children should be warned against eating laburnum seeds," Dr. Anderson said. "It happens every year at this time when the seed pods come out."

'This Is Canada?' A man and his wife whose power cruiser ran aground off Ten Mile Point late Friday night did not know they were in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Macdonald of Seattle were heading for San Juan Island when their 30-foot cruiser the Why Not? ran aground near Jenny Jones Island off Ten Mile Point, Cadboro Bay.

It was then high tide. At low tide the cruiser was perched high and dry on top of some rocks and the hull was damaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald had to wade ashore.

Surprised to learn they were "marooned" in Canada, the Macdonalds were advised to report to the customs department.

REPAIR CREW Capt. W. R. Stacey, Victoria marine surveyor, then contacted the shipbuilding firm of McKay-Cormack Ltd., which sent a repair crew to Ten Mile Point.

It took all Saturday to move the cruiser off the rocks and an improvised launching yard had to be built to get it ashore.

The cruiser is now being repaired in McKay-Cormack's yard. Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald returned to their home in Seattle Sunday.

Mrs. Cruickshank Funeral Set For Tuesday Mrs. Emily Cruickshank, 1781 Hampshire Road, a resident here since 1912, died Sunday at Belmont Nursing home at the age of 80.

Born in Newcastle, England, she was the widow of James Cruickshank. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. J. E. (Lillian) Field and Mrs. W. T. (Bessie) Clarkson, both of Victoria, four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Canon George Biddle will conduct a service at McCall's Funeral Chapel at 1:45 p.m. Tuesday. Interment will follow at Royal Oak Cemetery.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Somewhere in the city, in a basement or garage perhaps, someone has a large metallic object that goes flicker, flicker with orange and green eyes.

It's a $150 electric road barrier reported stolen from an underground wiring project at Haultain and Belmont at the weekend, city police said.

The unit, equipped with flashing lights, is property of J. A. Johnson Ltd., 2627 Victor.

A burglar climbed a second-storey fire escape to steal a $50 portable radio from an apartment at 644 Speed Saturday night.

H. P. Stark reported the loss to police at 12:30 a.m. Sunday on his return to the apartment.

Six pensioners living at 1702 Quadra complained to city police Sunday that someone stole their old-age pension cheques from a mail box and tried to cash one of them last Thursday at a department store.

If cashed, the cheques could be worth a total $330, but payment was stopped by the pension board.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Buy Skirts Made to Order At Enterprising Store

By PENNY SAVER

A "special" in one store I was in this week allows discriminating women to choose a cotton print to their liking and have a full, gathered summer skirt made for just one dollar extra. Included in the selection of prints are unusual border prints, color-plashed florals and crisp broadcloths.

Advantage to this "special" is that you can have as many widths as you please used in the skirt. Prices of prints range from 59 cents to $1.20 a yard so if you add the price of zipper and $1 making cost you can still get the skirt you want for anywhere from $3 to $5.

In the same store are cutest baby boys' pants I've seen for a long time. These are shaped just like boxer pants and are completely lined with waterproofed plastic. Pants are of cotton pique—no need to spend hours ironing these! Price of pants, that come in attractive designs on a white background, is $1.79.

You'll stop worrying about breakages when the youngsters do the washing up if you choose imported breakfast sets I've seen. Ideal for kitchen use. Sets enough for four place settings, are unbelievably low priced at $2.99. Included in set are four cups and saucers, four bread and butter plates, four large plates and four cereal or soup bowls.

Sets have a design of large red roses highlighting the cream backgrounds. At this price, no child will be too much in debt if he or she is responsible for replacements!

For information on any of these items give Penny a ring at EV 2-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Exercise Can Be Fun When Family Project

It is always fun to do things as a family. Even exercise can be enjoyed when the family does it together. If you plan for a regular exercise period each day, the members of your family will get many a laugh as well as lots of health as a result.

If you are overweight, dieting can be added to the daily routine. Many husbands and wives diet together. This makes it easier since there is a feeling of competition to see who loses more successfully.

On my Family Exercise leaflet I give exercises for the different members of the family, but there are many which are equally beneficial to man and woman. For instance, everyone can profit by abdominal exercises since the tendency is to a protruding tummy and increasingly lax abdominal muscles as the years pile up. We need strong abdominal muscles for best health as well as for the sake of our silhouettes, and Papa is just as apt to develop a bulge. Here is one for the whole family. Lie on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor overhead. Raise the trunk and touch the toes with the fingertips. Lower trunk to the floor. Continue. If you cannot raise your trunk without tucking your feet under a piece of furniture, you can work in pairs. Mama and Papa can take turns holding the other's feet on the floor, and the children can do the same.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Family Exercise Plan" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 35 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Mrs. J. F. K. English (left), president of Christ Church Cathedral's Women's Parish Guild, and Mrs. D. Mitchell (right), will convene annual garden party to be held in the Deanery garden, Saturday. Miss Kathleen Agnew (centre), will open the

FUR TRIM FOR FALL

DEAR ABBY

Cause for Indigestion

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Will you please offer a suggestion to help our family (and I'm sure many others) toward a more pleasant dinner hour?

The head of our house has personality, looks, position and a family who could love him, but he makes life miserable for everyone at the dinner table. He picks that time to criticize, scold and berate the children for their grades, dress and past mistakes. And every subject that is brought up, he turns into an argument.

After preparing a delicious dinner, it is very disheartening to go through this ordeal every night. I am deeply concerned when I think how, in years to come, my children will remember "the dinner hour" at our home.

DISTRAUGHT MOTHER. DEAR MOTHER: Tell your husband (privately, of course) that any criticism or scolding can wait until after the dessert—and then he should direct his remarks only to the one who has it coming. Announce that only "happy talk" is allowed at dinner, and give each child an opportunity to tell something of interest that occurred that day. And by the way, Mother, why not start your dinner with a little prayer thanking God for the food and the blessings of good health which enable you all to sit together at the table? You may find it impossible to quarrel after that.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married four years and have never had a place of our own. We've always lived with his people or mine because he refuses to take the responsibility of working steady, buying groceries and paying rent.

We are separated now because he was always getting married life and single life mixed up. I am 21 and he is 22. If we didn't have three babies, I would divorce him. If he doesn't settle down, I might anyway. Have you any advice for me?

ALL MESSED UP. DEAR MESSED: There is precious little advice (but much sympathy) for a 21-year-old girl who has three babies and a 22-year-old husband who "isn't ready to settle down."

But printing your letter might sober up some of these 17- and 18-year-old love-struck readers who believe all their life will be rosy.

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. She answers ALL letters.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please offer a suggestion to help our family (and I'm sure many others) toward a more pleasant dinner hour?

Local Bride Wears Sister's Veil At Centennial United Church

Of interest in Victoria and Lethbridge is the recent marriage of Florence J. Tulloch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Tulloch, 2846 Austin Avenue, and Joseph Pupak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pupak, Sr., of Lethbridge, Alta.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and Rev. R. M. Thompson officiated at the evening ceremony in Centennial United Church.

Mrs. M. Wilmsthurst played the organ as the bride went up the aisle in a white organza, street-length gown that, featured a full skirt. She carried a mauve orchid on a small white ribbon. Her cultured pearls were the gift of the groom. A shoulder-length veil and net headdress were borrowed from her sister, Mrs. P. E. Moir, matron of honor.

Mrs. Moir wore a pure silk, street-length, emerald green dress accented with mauve and white accessories. Her flowers were white carnations.

Michael Punchak, of Vancouver, was best man, and ushering was James R. Tulloch, brother of the bride.

J. S. Halls, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast to her happiness at a reception held at the home of her parents. A tiered wedding cake, made by the bride's mother, centred the head table.

After a honeymoon in San Francisco and Reno the newlyweds are now making their new home in Vancouver.

Out-of-town guests attending included Mrs. J. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Moir and Ken, Mr. and Mrs. Punchak and Miss S. Moir, all of Vancouver, and Mrs. D. Drummond, the bride's aunt, who travelled from Regina, Sask., for the ceremony.

Powder Blue Gown For Kathleen Steele

Kathleen Ada Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Steele, 40 Hibernian Crescent, and John E. Munroe, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Munroe, 3817 Carey Road, exchanged marriage vows recently in Centennial United Church with Rev. S. J. Parsons officiating.

Mr. Steele gave his daughter, in marriage during the simple evening ceremony.

The bride chose a powder blue, semi-sheath afternoon dress of embossed linen. A colonial bouquet of red roses and white carnations and champagne hat and shoes completed the bridal ensemble.

A YELLOW GOWN. Sister of the bride, Eileen M. Steele, wore a primrose yellow dress featuring a flared skirt and sweetheart neckline. White accessories and salmon pink carnations complemented the linen dress.

The mother of the bride wore a printed silk dress with a turquoise duster and the mother of the groom chose a navy dress with matching bolero.

Brother of the groom, E. B. Munroe, was best man, and ushers were Edward Steele and Eric Jones.

A two-tiered wedding cake centred the table at the reception in St. Alban's Hall. Mel McDougall proposed the toast to the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Martin, of Campbell River, were the only out-of-town guests.

For the honeymoon trip to Portland the bride chose a pale blue two-piece wool crepe suit and champagne accessories.

The newlyweds are making their home at 905 Vancouver Street.

Victoria Man Married In Regina

Tiny yellow sweetheart roses made a crown that held the chapel-length veil of Miss Irma Mae Lawrence for her recent marriage to Const. Robert Irwin McLean in St. Chad's Chapel, Regina, Sask. Her eggshell silk organza gown had a portrait collar and bouffant skirt. She carried a bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses and white stephanotis.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lawrence of Assiniboia, Sask. Her groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Ross, 1206 Fairfield Road. Rev. William A. Youngman officiated at the afternoon ceremony.

Pale aqua silk organza was worn by the matron of honor, Mrs. Henri La Riviere, Assiniboia. With it she wore a matching headdress. John Palenier, Regina, was best man. Following a reception at the Hunt Club, the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip to Banff National Park. For her going-away outfit the new Mrs. McLean chose a robin's egg blue suit with white accessories.

China Attempts To Reconvert Vast Wasteland

By RONALD FARQUHAR
PEIPING (Reuters)—China is going all out in 1959 to reclaim the desert wastes that stretch for more than 380,000 square miles across the north of the country.

Camels, horses, airplanes and hundreds of thousands of peasants are being mobilized to help plant trees, shrubs and grass and dig irrigation canals on an estimated 44,000 square miles of parched, barren land.

This target is more than twice as much as all the desert reclaimed by afforestation in the last nine years. Officials say that even bolder plans are likely in the future. These are part of programs worked out at a conference last fall to conquer the deserts in 10 provinces and autonomous regions in northern China during the next seven years.

The aim of the campaign, officials say, is to check disastrous sandstorms, protect and enlarge existing pasture and farm land and prepare the ground for setting up industries in former desert areas.

RUSSIA NEIGHBOR

The waste lands, which include about 130,000 square miles of the Gobi Desert, like mainly in the Singkiang Autonomous Region, which borders on the Soviet Union, and in Ningxia, Inner Mongolia, and the provinces of Chinghai, Kansu, Shensi and Hopen. Their total area is estimated at 11 per cent of the whole country.

They are arid, barren and stony with little vegetation or rain. Drifting sands, whipped by strong winds, threaten farm lands and villages on the desert fringes.

In summer, a blazing sun roasts the sands at temperatures of up to 90 degrees Fahrenheit. In winter, the mercury dips to as low as 35 degrees below zero.

Trees, grass and shrubs are effective weapons for taming the desert. They form a barrier against winds and also help to hold the sands firm and prevent them from drifting. Special, tough desert plants are used, which grow rapidly, have deep roots and are able to survive without much moisture. They are planted in long shelter belts in the desert and along railways, roads and river banks and on the fringes of the desert.

GAIN ANNOUNCED

One giant shelter belt in the northwest, stretching for nearly 1,000 miles and called China's "Green Great Wall," is nearing completion.

The belt begins at the westernmost end of Kansu province, known as China's ancient gateway to the west, and for much of its length runs almost parallel to the original Great Wall of China, built more than 2,000 years ago to keep out marauding nomads from the north. It averages about one mile in width.

Observations show that shelter belts can cut down wind speeds in the desert to 15 miles an hour from about 38 miles an hour.

About 700,000 people worked on the Kansu shelter belt in the spring of 1958. In 1959, more than 100 light aircraft will help to sow seeds in the desert, flying at a height of about 100 feet.

Water is essential for those working in the desert and for the plants they sow there. The program includes digging wells and laying pebble-bottomed irrigation canals in the sands.

The planners say that the afforestation scheme will change the climate in the desert areas, increasing reserves of moisture and rainfall.

RODEO CHAMP

WILLIAMS LAKE — Ellie Lewis of Osoyoos, B.C., successfully defended his title as the grand champion cowboy at the three-day Williams Lake rodeo, which wound up Saturday.

More than 4,000 spectators were on hand to view the exciting event.

Only one cowboy and no animals were hurt in the annual show.

George Kenner was taken to hospital with concussion after he had been bucked by a saddled bronc.

RIVAL TO PANAMA—An old dream of building a canal across the narrow southern part of Mexico has been revived. Petroleos Mexicanos, the nationalized Mexican oil industry, has begun study on the project. Newsmap shows the proposed route of the half-billion-dollar deep-water canal which would be 133 miles long (Panama Canal is 50), connecting the Gulf of Mexico with the Pacific Ocean. Plan was originally conceived in 1871.

FIGHTING BREAKS OUT AT U.S. NAZI RALLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Eighteen persons face disorderly conduct charges today as the result of fighting between supporters and opponents of George Lincoln Rockwell, self-styled leader of the American Nazi party.

Rockwell himself was one of those arrested by park police at the rally at which he was speaking. Several persons suffered bruises and minor injuries in the melee, police said.

Harold F. Stewart, chief of the national capital park police, said the fighting broke out between a group of Rockwell's followers and members of the audience. Those arrested posted $10 collateral each pending hearings in court Tuesday.

Eskimo Housing Plan To Check Death Rate

By ARCH MACKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP) — In a "shocking" picture of infant mortality, a government report says 23 per cent of all Eskimos born are dead within a year.

The death rate within the first year of life accounts for about half of all Eskimo deaths, says the report, and about half the infant deaths occur in the first month.

Bad housing — igloos, tents, sod and stone huts and shacks — is held largely to blame.

HOUSING PROGRAM

In a general re-appraisal of Eskimo housing policy, the northern affairs department is well into a program designed to provide housing for wage-earning Eskimos, namely those employed on DEW radar line sites such as Frobisher Bay.

The need is pointed up in a report entitled "Eskimo mortality and housing," a grim recital of statistical data plus about 100 photographs of present Arctic dwellings and some experimental types.

Steadily rising infant mortality since 1953 has produced this pattern: 1954—155 infant deaths per 1,000 live births; 1956—250; 1957—228. This compares with the over-all Canadian rate of 32, 32 and 31 for the same periods.

Fifty-four per cent of Eskimo infant deaths are due to unknown causes while respiratory ailments are credited with at least 39 per cent — and probably account for a large number of the unidentified deaths, says the report.

A higher rate may prevail in some Arctic areas.

DOOMED TO DIE

The choice facing many newborn infants, it is suggested at one point, is death by gastro-enteritis in a filthy shack or by pneumonia in a draughty tent. Professional medical attention too often is lacking.

One photo shows an Eskimo mother holding a baby bare from the waist down in an outside temperature of 10 degrees below zero.

Most of the 12,000 Arctic

Eskimos live in tents or huts in summer with the winter snowhouse still prevailing in areas removed from settled communities. One-room accommodation, draughty, dirty and cold, places the newborn infant in a highly vulnerable position. Shack towns built from scavenged dumping-ground tin and lumber have sprung up in settled points.

Relief is planned. At Frobisher Bay, low-rental housing is being provided in about 50 ordinary frame homes heated by an oil-fed kitchen range and with semi-partitioned space for two bedrooms. Smaller units — some plastic foam — also have been built.

PLASTIC EXPERIMENT

The same plastic material was used in 1958 for the first experiments on artificial snow-houses. Final result of this project hinges on the "wearability" of the material, still to be assessed. Otherwise, the curved-roof structures have proven easier to heat, warm and cleaner.

At Povungnituk, Que., on the east coast of Hudson Bay, about eight experimental homes have been put up, some stone and some wood frame or aluminum and using caribou moss as insulation. Plastic sheeting also has been employed. In an effort to stick close to native materials, sod has gone into the construction of some houses.

The most common Arctic heating unit is the ordinary primus or kerosene camp stove although seal oil lamps and the like have by no means vanished.

Negroes Turned Away From Ontario Resort

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — Three Negroes who said they were refused accommodation at a Kawartha Lakes resort Saturday have been settled in another cottage and happily went fishing today.

The cottage was found by Stan Shippam, secretary manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, after Charles Calhoun, Kelly Barton and McKinley Stevenson, all of Akron, Ohio, complained of discrimination.

They said they were refused accommodation at the Windsor Hotel near Buckhorn after they had paid a $10 deposit by mail and their booking was accepted. The money was returned when they arrived to take the cottage.

About 10 offers of accommodation for the Negroes were received during the weekend from one resort and private homes in the area.

The Negroes said Saturday they intended to lay charges with the crown attorney here but no action has been taken yet.

CAMERAMEN 'SIT DOWN' AND SOVIETS SURRENDER

PERSENBURG, Austria (AP)—Sixty Western photographers staged a no-pictures strike against Nikita Khrushchev Sunday — and won it.

The photographers sat down here at Austria's second largest hydro-electric station and refused to take pictures of the Soviet leader. They were protesting that Soviet photographers received preferential treatment.

As Khrushchev went by, the Western cameramen chanted "Khrushchev, Khrushchev" to attract his attention and held up a sign saying in Russian "photographers on strike."

Khrushchev heard the chanting, thought he was being cheered, waved and then suddenly dropped his hand as he read the sign.

A short time later, Austrian security men came after the photographers and said they could follow Khrushchev and take pictures of him in the control room of the power station, as Soviet photographers already had been allowed to do.

Fine Record Set by RCAF Rescue Squad

EDMONTON (CP) — The RCAF's 105 Communications and Rescue Flight, which disbanded Dec. 31 after 11 years of operation, was basked in only one of 11 searches for missing aircraft in 1958.

The unit, based at nearby Namao air station, was unable to find a Beaver aircraft which apparently crashed in rugged forests 225 miles northwest of here in September.

The unit was successful in rescuing a California family after their light plane crashed in dense bush in the Northwest Territories in August. It also brought back the occupants of a helicopter forced down near Yadek Lake, N.W.T. in June.

Established in 1947, the flight's duties also included emergency evacuation cases. It made 34 in 1958 and has had five miscellaneous cases.

Pilots, navigators, radio officers and airmen of the unit put in more than 1,600 hours of flying time on searches and evacuation flights during 1958.

40 Diamond Fields Found In Siberia

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Soviet government is moving engineers, scientists and builders by airplane into the frozen wilderness of eastern Siberia, about 2,400 miles east of Moscow, where 40 new diamond fields have been found.

Their job is to pioneer mining settlements in the uninhabited taiga, the permafrost belt sparsely covered with stunted larches.

Soviet geologists claim that the new diamond deposits are the world's largest. In long marches through the bitter Siberian winter, Russian men and women have prospected and mapped out the main diamond deposits.

With the exact position of these industrial riches known, the battle now is against the climate and isolation of the region. A town called Mirny peaceful is going up on the edge of one of the richest diamond finds. Mirny is being built on stilts because the granite-like permafrost is too hard for foundations to be sunk.

All food must be flown in. The workers eat mostly dehydrated borscht, a Russian stew made of cabbage and meat colored red by beet juice.

The Soviet government stands to gain enormously by rapid exploitation of the fields. Soviet industry needs diamonds for cutting, grinding and polishing. In the past, millions of dollars have had to be spent importing industrial diamonds.

The prospect of cheap Siberian diamonds flooding Western markets is by no means imminent. Diamond extraction in Siberia is going to be much more costly than in the African diamond fields, due to the climate and inaccessibility of the region.

Two Drown At Tahsis

TAHSIS—Two teen-agers were drowned here Sunday and a third was rescued when a light boat overturned in choppy wind-swept waters near Catala Island, 185 miles northwest of Victoria on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

The body of Richard Leo was recovered and searchers were looking for the body of Joseph Peterson, also presumed drowned in the accident.

Arnold John, third youth on the boat, managed to reach shore. All three live on an Indian reserve near here. Rough seas and winds were hampering efforts to find Peterson's body.

PORT ALBERT—Recommendation that approaches to the Mary Street-River Road intersection be cleared to improve visibility was made by a coroner's jury at inquest into the death of Betty Helmersen, aged 16.

The jury also recommended that vehicles with the front suspension altered should be checked before being allowed on the road.

The Alberni girl died June 25 from injuries received at the intersection. She was a passenger in a car driven by Gordon Porter, Alberni.

PORT ALBERT—Hundreds of Alberni Valley residents thronged the senior citizens' home here Saturday when they were opened for public inspection.

This was part of the wind-up of Alberni's 100th birthday celebrations which began last Wednesday.

A $22,222 contract for construction of a dwelling for the assistant lightkeeper at East Point on Saturna Island has been awarded M & G Construction Ltd. of Victoria by the Department of Transport.

Work will be under supervision of the district marine agent and scheduled completion date is March 31, 1961.

COURTENAY—An RCAF Beechcraft plane bombarded major Vancouver Island centres Saturday with leaflets advertising Air Force Day celebrations at the Comox RCAF base July 9.

The leaflets were dropped over Victoria, Duncan, Nanaimo, Port Alberni, Courtenay, Campbell River, and Powell River, on the mainland.

Major feature of the Air Force Day celebrations will be a demonstration by the RCAF Golden Hawks jet acrobatic squadron and the Red Knight, a red-painted Sabre jet.

CAMPBELL RIVER—The chairman of the B.C. Power Commission, Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, says costs are too high to allow extension of power facilities to the Campbell River Municipal Airport.

He said the $10,000 installation would not be justified by serving one customer.

LANGFORD—The Langford 50-Up Club will hold a picnic at Victoria's Willows Beach Wednesday, July 20.

Reservations should be made before July 13 through Mrs. Sam Sawyer (GR 8-3340) to assure transportation.

Club members recently honored three couples with an anniversary party.

Mr. and Mrs. F. West had been married 57 years; Mr. and Mrs. J. Ellis married 55 years, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Pearson also married 55 years.

DUNCAN—Dale W. O'Connell, 20, of Duncan, was fined $200 Saturday when convicted of impaired driving and had his licence suspended for three months.

Magistrate A. C. Sutton commented: "You need a shock." O'Connell was involved in a collision with a telephone pole that caused $500 in damage to his car.

DUNCAN—John Donaldson, Bell-McKinnon Road, a book-keeper; Stanley John Popplestone, Grieve Road, a truck driver, and Harold Burton Whitfield, Fairfield Street, a civil servant, will contest an election on July 14 for the representative of North Cowichan municipality on the Cowichan School District No. 65 board of trustees.

The polling stations are: the Municipal Hall, Duncan; Old School House, Somenos; Westholme Hall, Westholme; Church Hall, Crofton, and the Sea Cadet Building at Maple Bay.

New Jetliners May Land At Comox

COMOX—Trans-Canada Air Lines today is studying possibility of utilizing the RCAF station here as an alternate air strip for recently started DC-8 flights from Eastern Canada.

In the past the Abbotsford airport has sufficed when Vancouver's airport was fogged in.

But the new jetliners require more runway length than available at Abbotsford, and Comox offers the only suitable facilities on the West Coast.

Recently one of the big new jets made a successful test run at the Comox field doing "touch and go" landing on the runway.

ARROWS NO MATCH FOR CONGO TROOPS

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo Republic (Reuters) —Troops killed and wounded "a number of demonstrators" today in Coquilhatville, capital of Equator Province, when they were attacked with bows and arrows.

Order was finally restored after the troops opened fire, an announcement said. Coquilhatville was put under curfew.

'Worst Fire of Century' Destroys Vancouver Plant

Forest Firm Loss Over $2 Million

VANCOUVER (CP) — Firemen stood guard early today over the smouldering ruins of Vancouver's worst fire this century which caused an estimated $2,500,000 damage and levelled five blocks in the city's industrial False Creek district.

Twelve firemen and three civilians suffered minor injuries during the blaze and were treated at hospital, then released.

At the height of the five-alarm inferno every available man of the fire department's 450-man force and all available equipment were at the scene.

Fire Chief Hugh Bird, who estimated the damage, ordered a Martin Mars water-dropping aircraft of Flying Forest Tanker Incorporated at Sprout Lake to stand by. However, the plane recently purchased to fight forest fires in the province, was not needed.

Three fireboats and another from the RCAF battled their way through scores of pleasure craft in the vicinity to aid land equipment.

More than 10,000 persons swarmed to the scene to watch the desperate battle. The intense heat kept even the most hardy two and sometimes three blocks from the scene.

Twenty-four of the city's 60 policemen on duty were called to the area to unsnarl huge traffic jams and reroute traffic.

The fire, first five-alarm fire in Vancouver's history, started from a short circuit in a motor at the B.C. Forest Products' planer mill.

SPRINKLER LITTLE HELP

The mill's sprinkler system did little to deter flames as the fire began beneath the floor. Before firemen arrived at 5 p.m. winds gusting to 35 miles an hour sent the flames roaring through the mill, a nearby sawmill and a lumber yard.

When weary firemen, working 30-minute shifts on the hoses, finally contained the fire and broke it into several pocket blazes, five city blocks stretching upwards from the waterfront were levelled.

Also destroyed were B.C. Forest's office building, a large dry kiln, a boiler room, 1,000,000 feet of lumber, the nearby Alberta Lumber Mills Limited and a large section at the rear of Bingham Equipment Company Limited.

WATER TURNED TO STEAM

Chief Bird twice asked the water board to boost water pressure. He said later the water appeared to have little effect as it turned "to steam before it hit the flames."

Firemen concentrated on watering down the perimeter area in efforts to stop its spread.

"It's the worst fire I've seen since I've been on the force."

The fire compares with the Pier D fire of July 27, 1938, that destroyed the CPR's huge deep-sea terminal here, and the Ss. Greenhill Park explosion and fire March 6, 1945. Both caused $1,000,000 damage.

The city's worst fire was before the turn of the century when on June 13, 1886 fire destroyed 700 homes, killed 10 and left another 2,500 homeless.

In Sunday's blaze residential homes were not in immediate danger.

WORKMEN TRAPPED

'I Couldn't See 3 Inches Ahead'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three hundred persons were out of work today, the result of a five-alarm fire that swept through a four-square block area Sunday.

Ernie McLeod, 54, a B.C. Forest Products' first-aid man acting as watchman, told of being trapped by smoke after giving the general alarm.

"Bob Heslop ran over to me yelling fire," he said. "I ran into the engine room to turn in the alarm."

'Where Is the Closest Exit?'

"By this time the thick smoke had me trapped in there. I couldn't see three inches in front of me."

"The first thing a mill worker thinks is 'where is the closest exit from where you are?'"

"I dropped to my hands and knees and began crawling out of the room," McLeod said.

"I felt my way along the engines, barely conscious."

Robert Heslop said he was working on a planer when:

"There was a puff of blue smoke right in front of me. I blew the fire whistle and ran to warn the others in the plant."

Records Saved From Company Office

Heslop said there were about 15 men, all millwrights, working in the mill until 4:30 p.m.

Bystanders and company men who raced to the scene salvaged records from the BCFP offices which later burned down.

Company officials held an emergency meeting late Sunday.

President Charles D. Dickey later confirmed an estimate that loss to BCFP alone would exceed $2,000,000.

He gave no indication as to future plans, or whether the plant was insured.

Mr. Dickey said he did not know how many of the 300 employees would be able to keep working "but it will not be a large number immediately."

Earthquake Rocks N. Pacific Area

A moderate earthquake centred near the Queen Charlotte Islands followed by four aftershocks, was reported today by Hugh White, seismologist at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Saanich.

The quake took place at 9:30 p.m. Sunday and the aftershocks at 1:52, 4:14, 5:53 and 6:41 this morning.

No damage has been reported.

Mr. White said the quake had a magnitude of six and one-half on the Richter Scale.

"A quake of this magnitude could cause damage in its immediate vicinity," he said. He said the aftershocks were of a minor nature.

The same quake was recorded at the University of California seismograph Sunday.

Another earthquake in the outer Aleutian Islands was recorded at 12:27 p.m. Sunday at the observatory's seismograph station.

It had a magnitude of 6 and was centred about 2,400 miles northwest of Victoria.

At Queen Charlotte City in the islands, dishes rattled and several persons were awakened by a one-minute tremor this morning, but there was no damage.

Hope Fades for Airmen On U.S. Mapping Plane

BODO, Norway (AP)—Hope faded today for six crew members of the U.S. Air Force reconnaissance plane missing over the Arctic Sea as the search entered its third day.

The airmen would have spent more than 60 hours in the sea if the plane went down near the last known position—about 300 miles north of the Kela Peninsula in the Soviet Union.

Norwegian experts said that a man could live only 20 to 30 minutes in the sea in these waters, and even if the airmen managed to get into one of the dinghies their plane carried, the period now passed would be too long for survival.

Fulton Denies Columbia Rift

B.C. and Ottawa representatives this morning launched a key meeting here in their series of Columbia River power talks amid repeated denials of any "rift."

"If there were any rift we wouldn't be meeting at all," said Justice Minister Davie Fulton head the Ottawa team, which started talks at the Legislative Buildings.

326 Killed On U.S. Roads

CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic deaths climbed swiftly today toward a possible record toll for a three-day July 4 American Independence Day holiday weekend as motorists jammed the highways on their homeward journeys.

At noon EDT the toll reached 326 dead in traffic accidents, 29 in boating mishaps, 70 by drowning and 69 due to miscellaneous causes for a total of 494 deaths in the United States.

The record was set in 1955 with 407 persons perishing in traffic accidents during a similar 78-hour period.

B.C.'s team is led by Lands Minister Ray Williston, and includes Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

VITAL

Scheduled for two days, this meeting is believed to be a vital one.

It's expected to be a prelude to a formal offer to the U.S. by the Ottawa negotiators.

The session was called when international talks set for early July were cancelled.

At that time Mr. Williston said the extra B.C. parley was to discuss "additional technical information."

What that information—since obtained by the province—is has not been made public. But B.C. spokesmen insist that the holdup was not because of differences with Ottawa.

NO COMMENT

Mr. Fulton would not comment on the agenda of today's meeting.

Usually the sessions are only one day.

"We always set aside two days though," said Mr. Fulton.

However, it is understood the federal team is expecting to wrap it up today and plans to return to Ottawa overnight.

A statement will be made at conclusion of the meeting.

Canada Won't Get U.S. A-Warheads

OTTAWA (CP)—It now appears unlikely that the Canadian government will acquire American nuclear warheads for use by Canadian forces in Canada, reliable sources said today.

The government is said to be unwilling to accept American control over such warheads as now required by United States law.

The only way around the present impasse would be for the U.S. to amend its regulations to permit Canadian control over the nuclear weapons.

There is no indication of this. The Canadian and U.S. defence departments have been discussing this point for some 18 months without being able to come to an agreement.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today in the Commons in reply to Opposition Leader Pearson that the government has not yet decided whether to equip Canadian forces with nuclear arms.

And he repeated that any nuclear weapons for Canadian forces in Canada would have to be under Canadian control and could be used only as the result of a decision by the Canadian government.

This statement would not necessarily apply to Canadian forces, such as the army brigade group, serving in NATO forces in Europe.

Mr. Diefenbaker also said that Canada and the United States are endeavoring to arrive at a formula for joint control of nuclear warheads which would be stored at Goose Bay, Labrador, and Harmon Field, Nfld., for use of American interceptors based there.

The Prime Minister, replying to a question put last Friday by Opposition Leader Pearson, said discussions are continuing with the United States on acquisition of nuclear warheads.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

The days come and go, O Lord, but Thou art the unchanging One. Thou art like a rock, solid and unmoved, amid the uncertainty and variability of the passing days. Give us a greater sense of Thy security and dependability so that we may be more ready to hide ourselves in Thee in times of conflict and storm. Not that we would seek to avoid the conflicts we meet, but rather that we would encounter them under the protection found in fellowship with Thee. Give us that sense of safety in the midst of conflict which shall make us sure of victory even in the sternest struggles; through Jesus Christ. Amen.

I s'pose it's progress of a sort when y' kin hev yer forest fires right in town.

I'm jist waitin' t' hear one complaint about th' hot weather—jist one.

Stallin' on th' Columbia hydro is a misuse o' power—in more ways than one.

WAS IT DOMINION DAY OR DIEFENBAKER DAY?

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker was the logical person to take the salute at the army's Dominion Day ceremony on Parliament Hill Friday because Governor-General Vanier was not in Ottawa, acting state secretary Balcer told the Commons today.

He was asked by Alexis Caron (L-Hull) what rules of protocol permitted the prime minister to take the salute.

"Is the government trying to make Dominion Day, Diefenbaker Day?" he asked. Mr. Diefenbaker laughed at the question.

Mr. Balcer said he was not an expert in protocol, but since Governor-General Vanier was away from Ottawa, "I think it was very proper for the prime minister to take the salute."

WEEK'S BUSINESS IN U.S.

Castro's Cut-Ups Hurting But General Outlook Good

NEW YORK (AP) — United States business suffered some jolts last week. Premier Fidel Castro's Cuban government seized two American oil refineries and one belonging to British-Dutch interests. Steel production slumped to the lowest level for a non-strike period since July, 1958. Eastern railways began laying off workers because of slow business. Nevertheless, as the second half of the year began, many businessmen looked for an improvement over the first half, which was good by most standards but not booming as had been expected. Cuban confiscation of the multi-million-dollar refineries of Texaco Co., Standard Oil Co., New Jersey and British-Dutch Shell Oil Co. followed their refusal to process Russian crude oil. The action was considered a forerunner of more confiscations of foreign-owned businesses.

The drop in steel production to 54.8 per cent of capacity threw thousands of men out of work. President David J. McDonald of the United Steel Workers estimated that of the union's 1,250,000 members, 130,000 were unemployed and 350,000 were working short weeks.

It appeared that of the 48 steel companies with annual ingot capacity of more than 1,000,000 tons each, 18 will have their basic steel production departments closed at least part of this week.

The Pennsylvania Railroad said it would lay off 2,200 employees — for an indefinite period because of declining freight volume. Much of the line's business comes from steel and allied fields. The New Haven Railroad planned to lay off several hundred men for the same reason.

MERGER FEVER The merger fever sweeping the railway industry got hotter when the New York Central launched a fight to gain control of the Baltimore and Ohio. The Central will make an offer for B and O stock to counter a proposal already made by Chesapeake and Ohio.

Stockholders approved purchase by the Chicago and North Western Railway of the Minneapolis and St. Louis. This combination would be the third longest railway system in the U.S.

Automobile production skidded to 128,000 cars last week because of early closings for the July 4 holiday week. This was 13,000 units below the previous week but 20,000 above the July 4, 1959, week.

Some shipping men, heartened by what they describe as significant changes in conditions, point to revised interest in Canadian operations — and foresee a Canadian salt-water fleet of perhaps 50 vessels.

A trend might be blooming, they say. The indications: Canada Steamship Lines has the new freighter, Eskimo, plying the trans-Atlantic routes under a Canadian flag.

Canuck Lines Limited, a Montreal firm, has announced plans to return two 10,000-ton freighters to the Canadian flag from foreign registry.

When the giant 40,000-ton tanker Emerillon was launched at Lauzon, Que., last May, it was announced she would be Canadian-registered.

GAP NARROWS Shipping operators say the cost-gap is narrowing between Canadian and foreign shipping. There is also a growing conviction that Canadian seamen make up, to a large extent, for higher pay by greater efficiency.

The main impetus is development of the Canadian northland, and with it an expanded need for shipping services there.

The annual Arctic supply missions sends large convoys of merchant shipping and ice-breakers to the north, each summer. The job is expected to create a busy new shipping lane as the northland grows and supply demands increase.

Canadian vessels would likely get first shot at the contracts.

Retail trade, helped by warm weather, picked up and registered gains up to 5 per cent over a year ago.

Wholesale food prices declined to their lowest level in three months, arousing hopes that the steady climb in the cost of living would be stopped if not reversed.

Bond Market Lighter Due To Fast Rise

By the Canadian Press Trading on the Canadian bond market was lighter last week because of the fast rise in prices experienced during the early part of the month, and prices moved lower.

Short-term government issues declined on an average of 15 cents, and the longer government and provincial issues generally were weaker, with prices declining between 25 cents and 50 cents.

Canada 4½ per cent, September 1, 1963, traded at 91½, to 91½ on Thursday compared to 91½, 91½, previously, and Ontario Hydro's 5½ per cent, July 15, 1960, were quoted at 99½ to 100½.

MONEY STEADY

Day-to-day money remained at three per cent for the week, while the 92-day treasury bills tendered at an average of 3.07 per cent and sold at 3.05 per cent after the tender. This compares with an average tender rate of 2.98 per cent the week before.

The 182-day bills sold at an average of 3.23 per cent compared to 3.19 per cent on June 23.

The corporate market saw the offering of $50,000,000 Bell Telephone Company 4½ debentures, dated Aug. 2, 1982, at 100 to yield 5.75 per cent.

The issue was well received and sold quickly to a small premium.

The municipal market generally was unchanged on the week as current offerings were under distribution.

The town of Brockville, Ont., received just over par for a new issue of $725,000, 5½ per cent, one to fifteen-year and one to 20-year serial debentures.

These were re-offered at the weekend at premium prices to yield investors 5.66 per cent.

Hopeful Signs Seen For Canadian Ships

OPINIONS DIFFERED among top-level executives of the Chrysler Corporation and William C. Newberg, above, resigned Thursday as president after holding the job for only two months. L. L. Colbert was re-elected to his old job as president after having been elevated to chairman of the board to make way for Newberg. (AP Wirephoto)

All-Out Push Needed To Handle Holidayers

What's YOUR Ferry Doing?

Victoria was bursting at its seams during the year's finest weather over the holiday weekend.

And things are still going strong as U.S. visitors in uncounted numbers here today are celebrating Independence Day—the first marked by the 50 states.

Here is how the travel picture shaped up:

The Black Ball ferry to Port Angeles carried a phenomenal 5,652 foot passengers and 1,330 cars Friday through Sunday.

At 11 a.m. today there were already 20 cars at the wharf here waiting for the 2 p.m. sailing.

The Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen ferry business had overloads.

TCA averaged 700 passengers daily Thursday through Sunday. Flights were increased from 21 to 32 per day.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines had "everything rolling." The company even hired additional buses to handle the passenger flow.

A CPR spokesman described traffic as "terrific."

HOTELS, MOTELS HAPPY

Hotels and motels, with exception of a few outlying motels, were packed.

Extra sightseeing buses in the city were used by the B.C. Electric while numerous out-of-town visitors utilized the normal bus service.

Traffic to beaches was heavy, while additional buses took persons to a 3 p.m. Sunday band concert at Beacon Hill Park.

The sun smiled from Friday noon on and the weatherman predicts excellent weather through Tuesday.

Temperatures ranged from 65 to 74 degrees with light winds.

Whirlpools Off Island Are 'Hungry'

A warning to boatmen to beware of tidal currents in the narrow passes and channels off the east coast of Vancouver Island was issued today by the federal hydrographic service.

The warning follows reports that an increasing number of boats and yachts are venturing among the Gulf Islands and numerous small islands north of Campbell River.

13 KNOTS

"There still seems to be many people who are unaware that tidal currents in some passes run as high as 13 knots," said one official.

"Some whirlpools in these turbulent channels can swallow up a small boat."

He said no person with a boat with a maximum speed of eight knots should try bucking a current of seven knots.

"In theory the boat should be able to make headway against the tide," he said. "But in practice it's a different story."

SINKS DEEPER

The water in a turbulent current, he explained, is lighter and a boat sinks deeper into the water. This slows up its speed.

"Then again, the mean speed of a current may be seven knots, but it doesn't mean that there are not some spots in the stretch of water which are running at eight or nine knots."

B.C.'s new ferry service between Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen did a roaring business over the holiday weekend—but still is not saying officially how many cars it is carrying.

During Sunday, capacity loads were being carried both ways by the two ships operating across the gulf and the traffic was so heavy that an extra trip had to be operated at the end of the day.

While the ships have a stated capacity of 106 cars, there were as many as 114 on some trips.

It was the first major test of the new system's capacity since it began operation on June 15.

Most people agreed it did a good job. Despite the full loads, turn around time was barely 20 minutes for unloading and loading in two lines of cars.

At the Tsawwassen end on Saturday it was estimated that 15,000 sightseeing cars had to be turned back by traffic police to avoid jamming up the cars heading for the ferries.

The Toll Authority which operates the ferries and greets passengers with a sign welcoming you aboard "Your" ferry, maintained its policy of silence against giving out traffic figures. No one has yet made any formal explanation why this has been adopted.

SOONER, LATER

An official of the accounts side of the authority said today that he supposed sooner or later revenue figures would be published, but there will be no statements on specific traffic.

However, the enormous load carried over the holiday led to some speculation that Highways Minister Gagliardi might shortly carry out his promise to add extra trips to the eight-day now, or consider building another ferry boat to handle the load.

LONG WAIT

But the huge holiday rush meant that some people had to wait over two hours or more for the next trip.

Besides those taking the trips, there were hundreds of sightseeing cars at the Swartz Bay end and special commissioners were on duty to sort out the traffic.

At the Tsawwassen end on Saturday it was estimated that 15,000 sightseeing cars had to be turned back by traffic police to avoid jamming up the cars heading for the ferries.

The Toll Authority which operates the ferries and greets passengers with a sign welcoming you aboard "Your" ferry, maintained its policy of silence against giving out traffic figures. No one has yet made any formal explanation why this has been adopted.

THEY CAN SMILE. They saw it in time. But many children aren't as fortunate as Shirley Pike, 1322 Thurlow, and Joanne Venton, 1338 Minto, who don't see broken bottles on the beaches until they've gashed themselves. (Times Photo)

POLICE WATCHING FOR BOTTLE-SMASHERS

'Boobytrapped' Beaches Taking Toll in Cut Feet

By MICHAEL ROSE

The "beachboys" are at it again.

The bottle-smashing hoodlums, whose peculiar pastime has taken the fun out of summer for hundreds of children and adults, are "boobytrapping" district beaches at a fast pace.

Police and hospital officials report a steady increase in the toll of slashed feet and toes as the hot weather draws Victorians to the seaside.

"We do everything we can to keep our beaches free of glass," said parks commissioner Herbert Warren, "but it is impossible to keep ahead of the hoodlum element."

BEACH PATROL

"Along the waterfront we have a man doing nothing but cleaning up rubbish and broken glass."

In hospital emergency wards nurses and doctors are prepared for the influx of cut limbs.

"It's not the actual cut that matters so much," said one, "it's the accompanying infection from the dirty sand and gravel always present."

A Royal Jubilee Hospital official said they had 17 cases in one day last year.

District police chiefs will try to cut down on the glass smashing by increasing patrols in the beach and park areas.

GOOD SENSE

But they emphasized many accidents could be prevented by good sense on the part of adults and proper supervision of children by parents.

"Some of it is just plain carelessness on the part of parents," said Saanich Chief Bert Pearson, "They allow their children to play in the water with bottles and it's no wonder that accidents occur."

PICK THEM UP.

Chief John Blackstock of Victoria called for the co-operation of anyone seeing broken glass.

REPAIR CREW

Capt. W. R. Stacey, Victoria marine surveyor, then contacted the shipbuilding firm of McKay-Cornack Ltd., which sent a repair crew to Ten Mile Point.

It took all Saturday to move the cruiser off the rocks and an improvised launching way had to be built to get it ashore.

The cruiser is now being repaired in McKay-Cornack's yard. Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald returned to their home in Seattle Sunday.

Mrs. Cruikshank Funeral Set For Tuesday

Mrs. Emily Cruikshank, 1781 Hampshire Road, a resident here since 1912, died Sunday at Belmont Nursing home at the age of 80.

Born in Newcastle, England, she was the widow of James Cruikshank. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. J. E. (Lillian) Field and Mrs. W. T. (Bessie) Clarkson, both of Victoria, four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Canon George Biddle will conduct a service at McCall's Funeral Chapel at 1:45 p.m. Tuesday. Interment will follow at Royal Oak Cemetery.

U.S. TOURIST ROBBED BY PROWLER

A visitor from California was victim of a sneak thief who crept into his motel room and stole a pair of trousers and wallet at 4 a.m. Sunday.

Police found the trousers in a front yard at 457 Quebec at 6:50 a.m., and a second California visitor picked up the wallet on grounds of the Legislative Buildings shortly after 1 p.m.

Crest Motel called city police at 4:05 a.m., reporting the prowler, after Thomas J. William Ulmer, of Concord, missed his trousers and wallet containing a $5 bill, driver's licence, credit cards and personal papers.

He said he believed a man ran out a rear door of the Belleville Street motel toward Quebec Street.

Police searched the area without success, except to recover the trousers.

By the time A. C. Blair, of Carmichael, Calif., found Ulmer's wallet, the first tourist had already left the city.

I'm Looking For Good Men

Mayor Percy Scurren today said he will appoint a citizens' committee to help the Capital Regional Planning Board's urban renewal survey of the city.

Surveys of all city residential areas have been completed—pinpointing several blighted areas—and the building-by-building survey of the commercial strip fronting the inner harbor is underway now.

"There's a lot of work to be done because every building must be surveyed for its present condition and what could be done with the location under a redevelopment plan," said the mayor.

NEED GOOD MEN

"I'm looking for good men to serve on the advisory committee now. We'll need a real estate expert, a banker, a trust company officer as well as some other experts for the committee."

The $25,000 year-long study began in January with an $18,000 grant from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation which would provide most of the financing for any slum clearance program undertaken.

City council will decide whether or not the survey is implemented.

The mayor said senior officials of the civic service will also be formed into a committee to help the survey under CRPB director Brahm Weissman.

"This survey will provide the city with vital information," said the mayor.

He added that a renewal program would be "extremely important" to taxpayers.

"We have 1,500 single family dwellings, grouped in several areas, that at present have an assessment under $2,000.

"If we could have them replaced with better homes, the assessments could rise to $5,000 or $6,000. The importance of that to all taxpayers is obvious."

WINNER OF A RECENT DRAW

Organized by Victoria and District Amateur Baseball Association is Ernest G. Brookbank, 239 Heddle Avenue. His prize?—a 14-foot fibre glass boat complete with 22 hp motor and trailer.

Mr. Brookbank will be presented with his prize at 7 p.m. tonight in the Athletic Park.

The draw was run as a money raising effort for the association's minor league.

Lt.-Col. R. F. Ramsay, 290 Helmecken Road, commanding officer of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) has been elected president of the B.C. branch of the Canadian Infantry Association.

He was named at the recent annual meeting at Camp Vernon.

Navy men Dennis Kenneth Harvie, HMCS Skeena, and Dennis Garth Cook, HMCS Naden, were each fined $50 Saturday in city police court for causing a disturbance.

Police said they were found fighting on Yates Street Friday at 12:20 a.m.

Victoria fire department wheeled all its heavy equipment into action twice early today as alarms to a downtown hotel and Gorge plywood mill were rung in.

A call to Yates Hotel, 712 Yates, at 12:05 was found to be a false alarm, and at B.C. Forest Products mill the fire was confined to an electric motor which had overheated causing slight damage, at $30.

Saanich firemen fought a stubborn grass fire for four hours from 1:40 p.m. Saturday at 4498 Shoreacres, Ten Mile Point. Flames were controlled within an hour, but stamping out the embers took longer.

Mrs. Dorothy Grover and Mrs. Mary Casilio will address a public meeting at 8 tonight in the Newstead Hall on the subject: "Blessing Through the Known Way." The meeting has been arranged by Victoria Branch, British-Israel World Federation (Canada).

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Sussexvale, Ste. Therese, Stettler, Antigonish, Beacon Hill, New Glasgow, Jonquiere, return 3 p.m., Aug. 5.

James Bay, Cowichan, Fortune, Miramichi, return 8:30 a.m., July 8.

Fraser returns 4 p.m., July 9.

Construction Of Houses Cut In Half

Housing construction has been cut more than half in Greater Victoria by a continuing shortage of money.

The drought of mortgage funds—which began drying up this spring—has caused a comparative loss of 239 homes worth $2,725,340 during the first half of this year in Victoria, Saanich and Oak Bay.

Esquimalt, which does not keep a cumulative breakdown on housing construction, reports a similar 50 cutback in dwelling construction.

During the first six months of 1959, the three larger municipalities issued a total of 499 building permits for dwellings, valued at an estimated $6,041,940.

The corresponding period this year has been 260 permits worth $3,316,000 issued.

All the drop is blamed on the shortage of mortgage funds by the four building departments.

Non-dwelling construction, which does not rely on NHA mortgages, had maintained and in some cases exceeded last year's levels in the area.

Graphic examples of the effect of the mortgage shortage is contained in mid-year reports by the four building departments listing number of June dwelling permits and estimated values, with corresponding figures for June, 1959, in brackets:

Victoria—four, $58,500 (33, $392,000); Saanich—30, $367,500 (62, $724,300); Oak Bay—five, $101,000 (12, $205,050); Esquimalt—three, $54,200 (10, $188,000).

Road Talk Set

Capital Improvement District Commission will meet Tuesday to continue discussion on the proposed widening and improving of Foul Bay Road.

Victoria, Oak Bay and Saanich ask a grant for the approach from Fort to the University.

20-Day Term

One man went to jail for 20 days, another was fined $250 when they pleaded guilty in city police court today to charges of impaired driving.

It was the second such conviction since May, 1959, for Mike Malachowski, 811 Russell, who was arrested after a collision on Bay Street.

Eighteen-year-old George Lamont, New Westminster, who was fined, crashed the car he was driving into a power pole on Esquimalt Road, causing an estimated $500 damage to the car.

Magistrate William Ostler suspended driver's licences in both cases.

Marine Cable Break Delays Phone Calls

Long-distance phone calls between Victoria and Vancouver were being re-routed via Nanaimo and by micro-wave (wireless) circuits today after a cable snapped in the Strait of Georgia.

The B.C. Telephone Company's Victoria office reported heavy phone traffic following the long weekend holiday, and some callers had to wait for open lines.

Snapping of the cable meant that only 18 of the company's regular 64 lines between Victoria and Vancouver were left in service.

OFF PT. ROBERTS

"We are using our micro-wave system to minimize delay," an official said, "and many calls are being re-routed through Nanaimo."

Cause of the cable break was not known. It is located 1,000 feet off the Point Roberts promontory south of Vancouver.

The cable ship Brico was engaged on repair work this morning.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Somewhere in the city, in a basement or garage perhaps, someone has a large metallic object that goes flicker, flicker with orange and green eyes.

It's a $150 electric road barrier reported stolen from an underground wiring project at Haultain and Belmont at the weekend, city police said.

The unit, equipped with flashing lights, is property of J. A. Johnson Ltd., 2627 Victor.

A burglar climbed a second-storey fire escape to steal a $50 portable radio from an apartment at 644 Speed Saturday night.

H. P. Stark reported the loss to police at 12:30 a.m. Sunday on his return to the apartment.

Six pensioners living at 1702 Quadra complained to city police Sunday that someone stole their old-age pension cheques from a mail box and tried to cash one of them last Thursday at a department store.

If cashed, the cheques could be worth a total $330, but payment was stopped by the pension board.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Does it take more, less, or the same amount of time to boil an egg on a mountain top compared with sea level? H.R.G.

A. It takes longer to boil an egg on a mountain. Sea level atmosphere pressure is 14.7 pounds per square inch and water boils at 212 degrees Fahrenheit. On top of a 10,000-foot mountain, pressure per square inch is only about 10 pounds and water boils at 194 degrees Fahrenheit. Thus it takes much longer to prepare a hard boiled egg atop a mountain as boiling occurs when the vapor pressure of the liquid equals atmospheric pressure.

Q. What English county is nearest to the Isle of Wight? S.D.

A. Hampshire, across a strait called The Solent.

Hope Fades
For Missing
U.S. Airmen

BODO, Norway (AP)—Hope faded today for six crew members of the U.S. Air Force reconnaissance plane missing over the Arctic Sea as the search entered its third day.

The airmen would have spent more than 60 hours in the sea if the plane went down near the last known position—about 300 miles north of the Kola Peninsula in the Soviet Union.

Norwegian experts said that a man could live only 20 to 30 minutes in the sea in these waters, and even if the airmen managed to get into one of the dinghies their plane carried, the period now passed would be too long for survival.

Canada Won't Get
U.S. A-Warheads

OTTAWA (CP)—It now appears unlikely that the Canadian government will acquire American nuclear warheads for use by Canadian forces in Canada, reliable sources said today.

The government is said to be unwilling to accept American control over such warheads as now required by United States law.

The only way around the present impasse would be for the U.S. to amend its regulations to permit Canadian control over the nuclear weapons. There is no indication of this. The Canadian and U.S. defence departments have been discussing this point for some 18 months without being able to come to any agreement.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today in the Commons in reply to Opposition Leader Pearson that the government has not yet decided whether to equip Canadian forces with nuclear arms.

And he repeated that any nuclear weapons for Canadian forces in Canada would have to be under Canadian control and could be used only as the result of a decision by the Canadian government.

This statement would not necessarily apply to Canadian forces, such as the army brigade group, serving in NATO forces in Europe.

Mr. Diefenbaker also said to a question put last Friday by Opposition Leader Pearson, said discussions are continuing with the United States on acquisition of nuclear warheads.

Forest Firm
Loss Over
$2 Million

VANCOUVER (CP)—Firemen stood guard today over the smouldering ruins of Vancouver's worst fire this century which caused an estimated $2,500,000 damage and levelled five blocks in the city's industrial False Creek district.

Twelve firemen and three civilians suffered minor injuries during the blaze and were treated at hospital, then released.

At the height of the five-alarm inferno every available man of the fire department's 450-man force and all available equipment were at the scene.

Fire Chief Hugh Bird, who estimated the damage, ordered a Martin Mars water-dropping aircraft of Flying Forest Tanker Incorporated at Sproat Lake to stand by. However, the plane recently purchased to fight forest fires in the province, was not needed.

THREE FIREBOATS USED

Two city fireboats and another from the RCAF battled their way through scores of pleasure craft in the vicinity to aid land equipment.

More than 10,000 persons swarmed to the scene to watch the desperate battle. The intense heat kept even the most hardy two and sometimes three blocks from the scene.

Twenty-four of the city's 60 policemen on duty were called to the area to unsnarl huge traffic jams and reroute traffic.

The fire, first five-alarm fire in Vancouver's history, started from a short circuit in a motor at the B.C. Forest Products' planer mill.

SPRINKLER LITTLE HELP

The mill's sprinkling system did little to deter flames as the fire began beneath the floor. Before firemen arrived at 5 p.m. winds gusting to 35 miles an hour sent the flames roaring through the mill, a nearby sawmill and a lumber yard.

When weary firemen, working 30-minute shifts on the hoses, finally contained the fire and broke it into several pocket blazes, five city blocks stretching upwards from the waterfront were levelled.

Also destroyed were B.C. Forest's office building, a large dry kiln, a boiler room, 1,000,000 feet of lumber, the nearby Alberta Lumber Mills Limited and a large section at the rear of Bingham Equipment Company Limited.

WATER TURNED TO STEAM

Chief Bird twice asked the water board to boost water pressure. He said later the water appeared to have little effect as it turned "to steam before it hit the flames."

Firemen concentrated on watering down the perimeter area in efforts to stop its spread.

"It's the worst fire I've seen since I've been on the force," the fire compares with the Pier D fire of July 27, 1938, that destroyed the CPR's huge deep-sea terminal here, and the Ss. Greenhill Park explosion and fire March 6, 1945.

Both caused $1,000,000 damage. The city's worst fire was before the turn of the century when on June 13, 1896 fire destroyed 700 homes, killed 10 and left another 2,500 homeless.

In Sunday's blaze residential homes were not in immediate danger.

WORKMEN TRAPPED
'I Couldn't See
3 Inches Ahead'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three hundred persons were out of work today, the result of a five-alarm fire that swept through a four-square block area Sunday.

Ernie McLeod, 54, a B.C. Forest Products' first-aid man acting as watchman, told of being trapped by smoke after giving the general alarm.

"Bob Heslop ran over to me yelling fire," he said. "I ran into the engine room to turn in the alarm."

'Where Is the Closest Exit?'

"By this time the thick smoke had me trapped in there. I couldn't see three inches in front of me.

"The first thing a mill worker thinks is 'where is the closest exit from where you are?'"

"I dropped to my hands and knees and began crawling out of the room," McLeod said.

"I felt my way along the engines, barely conscious." Robert Heslop said he was working on a planer when: "There was a puff of blue smoke right in front of me. I blew the fire whistle and ran to warn the others in the plant."

Records Saved From Company Office

Heslop said there were about 15 men, all millwrights, working in the mill until 4:30 p.m.

Bystanders and company men who raced to the scene salvaged records from the BCFP offices which later burned down.

Company officials held an emergency meeting late Sunday.

President Charles D. Dickey later confirmed an estimate that loss to BCFP alone would exceed $2,000,000.

He gave no indication as to future plans, or whether the plant was insured.

Mr. Dickey said he did not know how many of the 300 employees would be able to keep working "but it will not be a large number immediately."

Earthquake Rocks
N. Pacific Area

A moderate earthquake centered near the Queen Charlotte Islands followed by four aftershocks, was reported today by Hugh White, seismologist at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Saanich.

The quake took place at 9:30 p.m. Sunday and the aftershocks at 1:52, 4:14, 5:53 and 6:41 this morning.

No damage has been reported.

Mr. White said the quake had a magnitude of six and one-half on the Richter Scale.

"A quake of this magnitude could cause damage in its immediate vicinity," he said.

He said the after-shocks were of a minor nature.

The same quake was recorded at the University of California seismograph Sunday.

Another earthquake in the outer Aleutian Islands was recorded at 12:27 p.m. Sunday at the observatory's seismograph station.

It had a magnitude of 6 and was centred about 2,400 miles northwest of Victoria.

At Queen Charlotte City in the islands, dishes rattled and several persons were awakened by a one-minute tremor this morning, but there was no damage.

The Sunday 'quake recorded at the University of California was not felt in the islands.

One shock was labelled as "extremely heavy" in the vicinity of the Aleutian Islands, but Anchorage, Alaska, reported it went unnoticed there.

Sunday brought another shock to Concepcion, in southern Chile, which was shattered by quakes May 21. Although it roused panic among residents, there was no report of casualties or damage. Some 200 tremors have been felt in the area in the past six weeks.

WAS IT DOMINION DAY OR DIEFENBAKER DAY?

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker was the logical person to take the salute at the army's Dominion Day ceremony on Parliament Hill Friday because Governor-General Vanier was not in Ottawa, acting state secretary Balcer told the Commons today.

He was asked by Alexis Caron (L-Hull) what rules of protocol permitted the prime minister to take the salute.

"Is the government trying to make Dominion Day, Diefenbaker Day?" he asked. Mr. Diefenbaker laughed at the question.

Mr. Balcer said he was not an expert in protocol, but since Governor-General Vanier was away from Ottawa, "I think it was very proper for the prime minister to take the salute."
